President Huerta Says He May Show How Former Mexican President Wanted Americans Killed.

FALSE RUMORS WERE CIRCULATED

Just Few Days Before the Downfall of Government An Attempt Was Made to Incite General Uprising.

MEXICO CITY, March 8.—It was announced today that Provisional President Huerta is considering the advisability of making public the official correspondence of the closing days of the Madero administration with the object of showing that the late president made strenuous efforts to incite anti-American sentiment throughout the republic.

Among the alleged orders given by Madero during the last week of his rule is one which directs the officers of the Mexican garrisons lying in the port of Vera Cruz "to fire immediately upon the American marines if an attempt is made to land forces" from the United States war vessels, "paying no regard to the expressed purpose of the American naval commanders merely to protect foreigners."

Would Have Been Suicide.
The execution of such an order would have meant the suicide of the Mexican naval forces, as a single shell from the battleship Georgia, then lying only 200 yards distant, would have been sufficient to destroy the Mexican gunboats.

It is also asserted that the official files show that a few days before his capture, Francisco Madero, in desperation, telegraphed to the state governors and chiefs of police throughout the republic, stating that American marines had landed at Vera Cruz and that this foreign invasion demanded the loyalty of all Mexican citizens.

May Publish Orders.
The government may also publish the orders given by Francisco Madero to General Huerta, then commander of the federal forces. These orders are said to include instructions to dynamite all the public and private buildings between the national palace and the arsenal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—There was disquietude in diplomatic circles here today when it was declared that the constitutional party of Mexico, of which the Maderos are the head and front, had planned to establish headquarters in this city to combat the Huerta regime. Alfonso Madero, brother of the late president of Mexico, was here for several days and is understood to have made arrangements for the institution of a central office. The details of the Maderist plans are not known, although quiet inquiries, it is understood, are being made by the state department and the Mexican embassy.

Representatives of the Madero family declared today that the visit of Alfonso Madero was entirely of a social nature and that he had stopped here on his way from San Antonio, Texas, to New York. He left for the metropolis last night where he is to consult with the other members of the family.

Schmitt, and all parochial school sessions were adjourned for the day, in her honor.

CLIMAX TOWNSHIP RECOUNT

Election Board Members Say They Used Barrel for Ballot Box Because They Were Afraid Box Would Be Too Small.

Attorney Claude S. Carney, the local contestant for the seat in congress from the Third district, now occupied by Congressman J. M. C. Smith, of Charlotte, gained 11 votes in the recount of the ballots cast in Climax township, before United States Court Commissioner Joseph Stockwell at the court house this morning.

The members of the election board in the township where a sugar barrel was used instead of a ballot box, consisted of A. L. Curtis, George Eberstein, Judson Pierce and Hubert Ewell. They stated that it was found necessary to use the barrel on account of the official ballot box being too small. On the recount which was made under the direction of attorneys for Smith and Carney, the local man gained 18 votes over the official returns, while Smith's lead was increased by seven votes, giving Carney a lead of 11 votes on the recount.

Van Buren County Man In State Legislature Organizes the "First Termers" Into Controlling Power

LANSING, Mich., March 8.—Sixty-five first termers in the house have an organization which is causing the veterans of the house to hurry around and sue for peace, it develops today, relative to the events in legislation during the week. So strong is the organization that Republican leaders have called a party caucus for next Monday night to consider the situation and seek to find a way to break the combination which is non-partisan and includes every first termers in the house.

The legislative reformers became imbued with the idea about a week ago that the veterans were looking after their own bills and leaving those of the first termers safely laid away in committee. One or two instances of this kind occurred and then a clever new member got this organization under way for the purpose of looking out for progressive bills introduced by the new members and incidentally helping those of the veterans. The first opportunity came when the recall proposition was up and the first termers got their high sign from the leaders and as a result the recall resolution introduced by Representative Plumley of Huron, was substituted for that of Representative Dunn of Sanilac, who has his resolution reported out, although the first termers claim the Plumley resolution was entitled to precedence. Without a break the first termers stood by the Plumley resolution and to the amazement of the veterans the bull moose was given this prestige over Dunn, a Republican third termers.

The word is that Representative Widenfeller of Van Buren, a Republican first termers, suggested the organization and had much to do with the grape-vine system by which it was perfected and gotten into action without a word as to its purpose. The first termers declare they want progressive legislation pushed along, without regard to who introduced the particular bill, but they propose to put an end to the plan of the veterans to only report their own bills out of committee and leave the new men to twiddle their fingers.

DARROW JURY CAN NOT AGREE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 8.—After deliberating since 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the jury that tried Clarence S. Darrow on a charge of jury bribery reported at 10:30 o'clock that it could not decide whether the former chief counsel for the McNamara brothers was guilty or innocent.

The vote on the last ballot, according to the announcement of the foreman, stood 10 to 1, but whether for acquittal or conviction, he declined to say. The judge said if there were no objections, he would issue further instructions and send the jury back for further deliberation. This was done and the jury retired at 10:20.

Fred S. Pettengill, a contractor, who is foreman of the jury, requested further instructions for the benefit of Silas Schell, a musician, the juror who voted against the other eleven.

HEAR NOTED MEN AT BIG BANQUET

SENATOR JAMES REED.

The Jefferson banquet given annually by the Democrats of Kalamazoo county will be held this year at the Pythian hall on West Main street, some time between March 15 and April 1. The probable speakers at the big feed will be Vice-President Thomas Marshall, of Indiana, and Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. This information was given out today by Albert Ten Busschen, vice-president of the Jefferson club, who is making the plans for the big event, owing to the absence from the city of President Eugene Welch.

Senator Reed spoke here last year at the Jefferson banquet and is acknowledged to be one of the greatest orators who ever appeared in Kalamazoo. Vice-President Marshall will be at his home in Indianapolis the latter part of the month and the arrangement committee is in hopes that he can be prevailed upon to come to the Celery city and take part in the program.

All Are Boosting.
Gordon Stewart, chairman of the committee appointed at the recent Democratic county convention to act with the Jefferson club officials, and Judge Samuel H. VanHorn, also a member of the committee, are working in conjunction with the Jefferson club officials in making the affair the biggest thing of the kind ever held in this city.

The following are the officials of the Jefferson club: President, E. A. Welch; vice-president, Albert Ten Busschen; secretary, Thomas Gleason; treasurer, M. N. Kennedy.

Township Vice-Presidents: Alamo, Walter Rector; Cooper, A. J. Delano; Richland, J. J. Campbell; Ross, Victor Burdick; Oshtemo, Joseph Haynes; Kalamazoo, S. D. Delmers; Comstock, John Nolley; Charleston, L. J. Bradley; Texas, Thurman Thompson; Portage, William Campbell; Pavilion, Robert Cook; Climax, Frank Williston; Prairie Ronde, Levi Luce; Schoolcraft, E. B. Explosion So Terrific That Coast Defenses of Baltimore Harbor Have Been Badly Crippled.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 8.—Investigations are under way today to ascertain the cause and fix the blame for the disastrous explosion yesterday of more than 300 tons of dynamite in the hold of the British tramp steamer Alum Chine, lying at anchor in the lower harbor, which brought death to more than 40 persons and serious injury to three score more and caused property loss of more than $250,000. One investigation already has been completed by the city authorities, but no definite conclusion reached because the accident occurred outside the city limits.

Immediately after the accident the federal authorities at Washington were apprised of the serious damage to the new collier Jason, which was near the anchorage of the ill-fated Alum Chine and was about to be accepted by the navy department. Word was received that the department would inquire into the disaster. At the same time, it is probable an investigation will be undertaken by the interstate commerce commission which has jurisdiction over the shipment of explosives in American waters.

PRESIDENT WILSON AFTER CONGRESSMAN BEAKES GIVES HIM CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Representative Samuel Beakes of Ann Arbor and the Progressive democratic element of the party will have the handling of the Michigan patronage. This was definitely learned on reliable authority at the White House today after Beakes had had a half hour conference with President Wilson in company with Patrick H. O'Brien, of Hancock, Ill., Abbott, of Ann Arbor, and Stuart Byrne, of Marquette. President Wilson showed the most extreme cordiality in receiving Beakes and his friends and it is learned from authoritative sources that he reassured them of his appreciation of their fight for progressivism in Michigan and of his purpose to recognize them unequally in the bestowing of Michigan patronage.

Beakes would not state what the President had said to him but his manner was one of exuberance. He could not conceal the joy he was experiencing as a result of his interview with President Wilson.

From other sources it was learned that he had just cause to be elated. It is understood that President Wilson knows the Michigan situation thoroughly and that he proposes to do all in his power to strengthen the arrangements of the men who made the progressive fight in the state. He is familiar with the activities of the Shields-Wood faction both before and after the Baltimore convention and it is believed he will not permit them to influence him in making Michigan appointments.

Congressman Beakes had charge of the Wilson headquarters in this city prior to the Democratic county convention last August. He endeavored to line up the delegates from this county for Wilson but was not successful in so doing. He was a hard worker for the Wilson cause and did much to hold the state delegation in line at Baltimore and is well known in Kalamazoo.

BEATS WEATHER MAN BRINGS WAGON ALONG

A Portage township farmer has at last discovered a method to beat the Michigan climate. Today he came to this city, driving a bob-sleigh, upon which was placed a lumber wagon with the wheels attached.

The sight created no little curiosity as the farmer drove down Portage street, although his explanation, offered to the onlookers, is simple enough. Hearing that the sleighing was somewhat bare in places and fearing that upon his return home he would find it "hard sledding" for his horses, the considerate driver brought along the lumber wagon. Upon the return trip the vehicle was completely changed about, the animals drawing the wagon, into which was loaded the runners of the bob-sleigh. It is said that the plan would be a good one for farmers to use at this season of the year.

DEFEATED CHARTER CAN BE SUBMITTED
UNDER NEW LAW

It has just been learned here that when the home rule bill passed in the state legislature the other day, it carried with it an amendment prepared by Representative W. L. Fitzgerald of this city, which permits the resubmission of defeated city charters to the voters.

This will give to Kalamazoo a right to submit at any time it desires the charter which was recently defeated. The new state law, which became effective immediately, will permit the submission of the old charter at any time, upon a petition signed by only ten per cent of the voters.

ANGRY WOMEN SAY
POLICE PLOTTED TO SPOIL BIG PARADE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Before a hearing-room packed with angry suffragettes who charged that he deliberately plotted, by inadequate police arrangement, to make their big demonstration last Monday afternoon a failure, Major Sylvester, chief of Washington police, was scheduled today to present his defense to the senatorial investigating committee. The women are determined that Sylvester's official head shall pay forfeit for the disgraceful rowdiness, congestion of the streets and shouted insults of toughs.

Sylvester insisted today that no matter what the outcome of the senate investigation, he would immediately call before the police board the patrolmen who were identified by witnesses before the congressional committee as failing to keep the line of march clear. That congress was in a measure responsible, because of failure to give him an adequate police force, was the explanation submitted in his report to the investigating committee.

GOVERNMENT TO MAKE TESTS

Dr. Friedmann's Tubercular Remedy Will Be Made By Government Officials.

Doctor Will Be Given Every Opportunity to Demonstrate Worth of His Remedy.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Government test of tubercular remedy of Dr. Friedmann, were formally authorized today by the public health and marine service and will be made by Surgeon General Blue's orders. A thorough scientific study and analysis of the Friedmann cure will be made. He said the German doctor had agreed to turn over to the government without any "strings" the culture for experimental purposes. The cure will not be used by the government upon human beings until its results are shown on animals.

Surgeon Anderson was today specially assigned to secure a culture from Dr. Friedmann and return to Washington with it, after remaining in New York a few days, to watch the discoverer's experiments.

Fair Chance.
Surgeon General Blue today stated he was instituting the federal tests with an "open mind" determined to secure a scientific and impartial judgment of the virtues and lack of virtues of the "cure."

If the Friedmann culture is found of value in the monkey tests Surgeon General Blue stated that experiments would then be made upon tubercular patients at Fort Stanton, New Mexico. This hospital is strictly a tuberculosis sanitarium, managed by the public health service with army and navy officers and enlisted men as patients.

Many Trials.
Providing the tests at Fort Stanton are successful, the experiments will be extended to the other 25 hospitals of the service.

The law provides that the service may conduct such experiments upon not exceeding 10 patients in each hospital which would enable the use of the culture daily upon 250 men—ten in each of the 25 sanitariums.

The surgeon general said if the experiments are successful the public health service will make future supplies of the culture itself from the original supply furnished by Dr. Friedmann with financial obligations to Friedmann by the government.

Bank One of the Biggest in Van Buren County — President Says He May Re-organize.

(By a Staff Correspondent)
GOBLEVILLE, Mich., March 8.—The Gobleville Exchange Bank which closed its doors yesterday morning, with thousands of dollars on deposit—may re-open under a state bank charter within the next week or 10 days. This was the promise held out to the depositors yesterday afternoon by Judge Alfred J. Mills, attorney for Stanley Sackett, the banker, in a speech made to those who had attempted to force their entrance into that institution.

"Mr. Sackett believes that the assets are sufficient to meet all demands and nothing will be gained by forcing your way into the bank," the judge announced. "We are going into the bank to find out where we are at. A great many of you know me. I believe that you know me well enough to know that I will do the right thing." Some one in the large crowd shouted "You're all right, judge," and the suspense of the day was felt to be nearing an end. A number of depositors then suggested that instead of going into the bank that Sackett and his attorney wait until the sheriff came from Paw Paw.

To Save Litigation
"We intend to find out what is the trouble and save all needless litigation," said Judge Mills. "Nothing would be accomplished by having the sheriff come here. I do not believe that any of you will suffer loss."

It was finally agreed that a committee composed of depositors accompany Sackett and Judge Mills into the bank. This was readily agreed to and a committee composed of Dr. C. L. Bennett, Fred Starks, L. O. Graham and Will Miller was selected.

Judge Mills after an investigation of the books stated that his client was evidently suffering from "cold feet" and that he believed that everything would turn out all right.

Wrong to Close
"Sackett's affairs will not be thrown into the hands of the receiver," he said. "To my mind there was no good reason for closing the bank as Sackett could have obtained money on the securities. The people of Gobleville believe in him and have faith in his integrity. He has tied up his money by too heavy investments in real estate and eventually became afraid. He will eventually meet all demands against him."

Created Surprise
The announcement that the Exchange bank had closed its doors and that "Stan" Sackett, the big man of the town, were missing came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky to

ALL THE NEWS PERTAINING TO THE EAST SIDE AND ITS HUSTLERS.

BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET PROVES A GREAT SUCCESS

That the business men's banquet was a howling success was agreed to by every one of the twenty east side hustlers who attended the spread and smoker. The supper which was the principal feature of the evening's program was served in four courses by Mrs. Lillie who incidentally received just twenty pleasing compliments from the banquettes as a result of her efforts.

V. E. Spaulding proved an excellent toastmaster and one round of meriment followed another. Several talks were given along the lines of co-operative business methods among the merchants of the east side and these were received with much enthusiasm by the gentlemen. A number of piano selections were rendered during the course of the evening.

Following the supper the men adjourned for their smokes which turned out to be a soft affair. The business men enjoyed an informal social session until a late hour. It is their plan to make these banquets a regular monthly affair.

MANY DEATHS IN G. A. R. RANKS

Fourteen Members Have Passed Away in Less Than Three Months.

Only One Hundred and Twenty-five Remain in Orcutt Post of G. A. R.

Should the death rate which prevailed during February in the Grand Army of the Republic ranks, Orcutt Post, continue no members will be left for Memorial day, 1914. During that month eight members answered the summons, and as there are approximately 125 members remaining at that rate none would be left fourteen months from now.

Of course there is no possibility of such mortality in the ranks, but it does bring to mind how fast the old soldier is being taken away. Many who fought in the war of the Rebellion are still hale and hearty and may expect many years more of life. But others are growing old and feeble and at best may look forward to but a few years on earth.

During the last three months, the following deaths have been recorded: John T. Barker, December 17, 1912, aged 83.

Oliver Pratt, January 20, 1913.

Joseph Coshun, February.

Benjamin Bolenger, February.

Homer N. Elwell, February 20, 25th Mich. Inf.

Samuel J. Bovee, February 20.

Frank James, February, 22, 10th Mass. Inf.

Z. Park, February 28, 1st Minn. Inf.

George Mason, February 28.

George Hollenbeck, February 21.

Ira H. Drake, January.

August Henschell, March 5, 13th Mich. Inf.

Charles B. Allen, March 5.

Albert Stafford.

A peculiar coincident is the fact that two died February 20, two February 28, and two March 5. Also that February 20, 21, 22 there were four deaths, twice as many as in January.

One old veteran writes concerning this:

At the present rate of mortality the mooted question of pensions will soon solve itself. Orcutt Post has tears and flowers for every old soldier who dies within its jurisdiction, whether a member or not. The last member will soon "tread the banquet hall alone" and when our time comes and we stand before St. Peter for our assignment (if we are allowed to express a choice). Whether the fact that they were once engaged in "bloody wars" mitigates for good or ill methinks we will ask to be put in with the G. A. R. boys and may all our associations with each other and contentions if such arise, be conducted with this in mind. Tomorrow you may hear the cold clouds falling on my senseless form or I may be assisting to perform the same service for you.

WILL TELL WEST RELIGIOUS WORK

SAMUEL HOEKSTRA HAS MANY INTERESTING THINGS TO TELL MEN.

During his western trip, from which he returned Thursday, Samuel Hoekstra made special observations of religious activities. One incident he records is of visiting a church which has a membership and attendance of 5,000 persons. The members are so active and so anxious to attend, as are also others not belonging, that tickets have to be issued in order that the services will not be over crowded, and that the members may have seats.

Many other similar interesting facts will be told by Mr. Hoekstra at the Men's mass meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Hoekstra will take as his subject "Religious Impressions of the West." He will put special emphasis of the Y work in the west.

The meeting will be held promptly at four o'clock, and the Y orchestra is expected to furnish music.

WEDDING WITNESS GET STUNG RIGHT

Two professional marriage ceremony witnesses who attend to the important duty of being present at ceremonies performed at the county clerk's office for the avowed privilege of kissing the bride, were much chagrined this morning when after locking up their offices and making a rapid dash for the Court House in answer to a telephone summons to find that the bride-to-be was colored. The local members of the firm of Cupid and Co. made a hasty departure and refused to act in their official capacity.

THE NEW CABINET.

The men who have been selected by President Wilson to form his cabinet of official aides and advisers are for the most part, little known to the people generally. The single exception is that of Colonel Bryan, who is personally known to an even larger number of Americans than is even the new president himself. All the other new cabinet members, however, have achieved some degree of prominence in their home localities, and several have been connected with public life in ways that have made their names more or less familiar to the general public, even though the men themselves have escaped distinctive public notice.

It is quite clear that in making these selections President Wilson has paid some attention to political exigencies, at the same time he has tried to pick for each position a man especially adapted to the line of duties that will fall on him. The east and south will have the largest representation in the new cabinet, furnishing all but two of its members, these being Lane, of California, and Bryan, from the middle west. The conspicuous leadership of the latter, however, connected with the recognized importance of the post he has been invited to fill, offsets, in a large measure, any apparent neglect of the middle west with respect to proportionate representation in the new cabinet.

Of course Mr. Bryan, as premier of the new administration, will be the center of interest in connection with the development of the policies and plans of the new Democratic regime. On him will rest the responsibility of directly dealing with numerous intricate and complicated questions involving the relations of this government with foreign nations. It is already recognized that Bryan is a different kind of man, by nature, training and characteristics, from the line of secretaries of state who have represented this government for many years, and the prediction therefore made that his advent to this office will likely result in a marked change in American methods of diplomacy related to international policies and dealings.

On the whole, however, it is agreed that the new cabinet represents a well balanced organization of earnest, able and experienced men, capable of doing good team work and qualified to ably second and support the president in his evident ambition to furnish a successful and meritorious administration. And apparently this is exactly what Mr. Wilson aimed at in making his cabinet selections—a set of men who will harmoniously and consistently work together for the general good and welfare, thus to gain credit for the new administration. And the public will sincerely hope his laudable ambition in this direction will be fulfilled, for a successful administration will necessarily promise the welfare of the nation as a whole.

TO TACKLE BIG PROBLEM.

The first national conference on marketing and farm credits will meet at Chicago on April 8, 9 and 10. "To devise remedies for the evils now existing in the distributing and marketing of farm products and the financing of farm business, and to unite upon a plan of constructive action." The problem thus set forth is a big one, and one of constantly increasing importance to the people of this nation. It relates directly to the high cost of living, and also has a bearing on the oft repeated claim that the farmers of this country do not receive a fair proportion of the prices for which farm products are ultimately sold to the consumers.

That there is something radically wrong with the present system of distribution and marketing of farm produce in this country, has repeatedly been urged by those who have made a study of this matter. Every year instances are cited where a vast economic loss is permitted, simply because a portion of the perishable crops are never moved from points of origin, either as a result of inadequate transportation facilities, or due to trade combinations which work to keep up retail prices, or through a combination of these factors.

Moreover, statistics show that in many instances the lion's share of retail prices is swallowed up by the middlemen, who are directly charged by some authorities as being largely responsible for high prices, yet who fail to "divvy up" with the farmers in a fair manner. And back of all this the farmers are handicapped by an inadequate system of credits to finance their operations, so that both they and the consumers suffer through waste and losses, the same as they mutually suffer through the arbitrary control of the middlemen over distribution and marketing.

These and allied problems will be taken up at the coming national conference at Chicago, and an effort made to find and apply adequate remedies. The importance of this meeting will, therefore, be readily apparent to all, and doubtless the convention will attract much public attention. That it will result in speedy remedies for the evils complained of will be the earnest hope of all, for the object sought cannot fail to enlist general support and approval.

HOTEL GUESTS ARE DRIVEN TO STREETS

NEW YORK, March 8.—With only the flimsiest of night garments to protect them from the bitter cold of an early morning fire, fully one hundred men and women, guests in the fashionable hotel Burlington, at 10 West 30th street, fled into the streets early today when the building caught fire.

Many of the women had to be carried down fire escapes and ladders by firemen. The others were assisted through swirling smoke across window ledges into the Holland House, next door. A panic among the guests followed the discovery of the fire which originated in the store room on the ground floor. At the Holland

Old Veterans Sitting Around Stove Tell Stories of Noted Battles And Campaigning

In "Immense" that pleasing little German, Theodore Storm, there is a beautiful description of how Reinhardt, the hero, when an old man stood before the picture of his youthful sweetheart, with a far away look in his eyes, and in gazing at the portrait of his boyhood love, straightens his bending back and is once more a young man, in spirit.

Those who have read the description can appreciate something of the atmosphere which pervades the Grand Army of the Republic headquarters, on north Park street when a number of aged veterans gather around the stove and recall the events of the Civil war nearly every afternoon. When they speak of those days there is a far away look in their eyes and it is not hard to imagine their gray hair turning black, their aged form, beaming youthful again, and a blue uniform at first new and bright, but later dusty and worn, adorning their fearless bodies. They have lived nearly half a century since those days, but when they recall episodes connected with that great conflict they are again back in the days of '61.

Want Confidence. When they are by themselves they talk more freely. "I don't care to tell about the things that happened in those days so much," said a white haired veteran, "because many of the things seem impossible now. The younger generation does not realize how things were crowded together then and such wonderful things happened." The one time soldiers in blue feel much hurt at any suggestion that all their stories are not to be taken literally true, and criticized a speaker who recently intimated that he listened to their tales with a grain of salt. They were visibly hurt by this intimation.

But what need have they to exaggerate? Did they not pass through the greatest strife in history, when brother was arrayed against brother. Many a company which left with its full complement of men returned with only three or four. "One time," said another veteran, "one of the officers said, 'Company G, step forward,' and he stepped forward. The officer repeated his order, and finally asked the officer where his company was, and pointing to the lone man he replied, 'There he is, he's the only one left.'"

Some Fun. There was lots of fun for the soldiers, even in the hardest times, they joked. Several told how they were captured by the Confederates and the laughing back and forth across the lines, like boys playing a game. One told how an officer in captivity offered to take one regiment of Union soldiers and whip two regiments of Confederates, but his offer was refused.

G. W. Doane, Company K, 19th Michigan, told some of his adventures. Mr. Doane was born in Kalamazoo at 420 east Main street. "After the battle of Spring Hill he marched out 1,450 strong and met a force of 30,000. We fought with them for four hours and then ran out of ammunition, so we had to give up and were captured."

UNIONS WILL NAME TICKET

At Rousing Meeting Held Last Night Plans Are Formulated to Place Ticket in Field This Spring.

Unionists Declare They Are Represented in Old-Time Politics—Draft Platform.

The union men of Kalamazoo will nominate a full party ticket and place another party, representing the union class, in the political field during the coming spring campaign, in the hope that they may have desired representation in the city government. The decision was reached at a meeting of the various temple committees last evening in the office of Homer Waterman. It is believed that with 22 unions in Kalamazoo and with the voting strength of these unions reaching nearly to the 3,000 mark, the unions will be able to raise havoc with the old-line parties.

At the meeting last night Secretary Waterman came out strongly for the new plan. "We have not had representation," said he. "Another meeting will be held soon to form more definite plans regarding the organizing of the union forces."

The platform of the new party as adopted last night:

1. Municipal service wholly divorced from partisan politics. Tenure of office during good behavior and promotion for meritorious service.
2. Municipal ownership of street railways, telephones, gas, electric light plants for public distribution of power, heat and light at the lowest possible price consistent with cost of manufacture and distribution.
3. Eight-hour service for all employees engaged directly or indirectly on municipal work.
4. All municipal work to be performed directly by the municipality without intervention of contractors.
5. Payment of wages in lawful money for equal work performed with men.
6. Revision and simplification of all municipal laws.
7. Thorough revision and equalization of salaries of public officials.
8. That no special privileges should be granted to any individual or corporation without adequate compensation, and never without retaining direct control of the privileges granted.
9. The strict enforcement of all laws and ordinances tending toward better health and sanitation in all living and working places.
10. The establishment of a city market with proper regulations for sale to the consumer of all farm or other produce.
11. Measures for the city to pro-

Major Shafter, later Major General, was in command of rebel General Van Dorn remarked that for every man captured, 1117, the rebels would find a dead or wounded man, and when they reckoned up they found that they had.

Given Banquet. "On the train when we were being taken to Libby prison we were snowed in. An old Virginia farmer found us stilled, and said that he had three barrels of flour, so he made them into biscuits and gave them to us. These were all we had to eat for three days."

William Allen, who was in one of the Ohio regiments, told some of his experiences. "On one time we marched 200 miles, with just two hours sleep in twenty-four, and after finishing the march we were ordered to the front. In '65, near Matchless Run, Virginia, we started the charge at four o'clock in the morning and turned around that same night and followed Lee to Burkesville Junction, and would have beaten him there but for the fact that we met Lee's whole army, and surrendered."

Confederates Deceived. "We were placed in charge of a part of Lee's army. The night before Lee's surrender we heard the Confederates band playing, 'Dixie.' 'Old Home Sweet Home' and other pieces. We asked them why they were playing and celebrating, and they said that Richmond had been recaptured. The officers had told the poor fellows to keep up their spirits. Some of them had on suits that were almost worn out, and off at the knees, it was a pitiful sight. We learned the truth in a few days."

Get Honey. "We were given three days' provisions, which were to last ten days, and on a march of four hundred miles. We learned to rob bees, and we ransacked everything we came to. I got so I thought I could tackle any swarm of bees and get any honey that was within a mile. One time, when I had eaten nothing but sweet cherries for a day, there was some honey found near a fence and several of the boys went to get some of the honey, but every time they would go near they would get stung and retreat. Well I said, 'Boys, watch me,' and just as I got on top of a fence, bang, a bee hit me right above the eye, and if it didn't knock me right off the fence. Well that bee sting and the sweet cherries got to working and I was so sick that I couldn't go on the march."

Other stories were told during the afternoon, stories of how men had their ears pierced with bullets, how a man stayed in the war after having an axe driven into his shoulder, how one had his knapsack blown to pieces by a shell, but was not killed. Nearly every afternoon several of the old soldiers meet in their rooms at the G. A. R. hall, and generally their conversation turns to the great war. It was suggested yesterday afternoon that they tell some of their experiences at some of their regular meetings, and this will probably be followed out.

UNDAUNTED BY NEW PRESIDENT'S RULING, MEN SEEK PLACES

"ORIGINAL" WILSON MEN FROM MICHIGAN ARE SWARMING CAPITAL HOTELS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Patrons of hungry Michigan Democrats are swarming in Washington hotel lobbies. Apparently they are undaunted by President Wilson's official announcement that he will see no one on patronage matters unless he invites the interview. They are mustering their forces just as though they were to receive an open arm, instead of a boot-toe reception.

The so-called original Wilson men of Michigan are among the most active. W. F. McKnight of Grand Rapids; Louis E. Rowley of Lansing; Judge Patrick H. O'Brien of Calumet, and F. S. Byrne of Marquette frequently can be found together.

They had little to do with Governor Ferris, National Committeeman Wood and State Chairman Shields when those leaders were making their talks here for recognition of party organization. They prefer to have the "original Wilson men" recognized. The talk in political circles is that three of the four original men mentioned are after federal appointments.

Messrs. McKnight and Rowley are talked of in connection with consular positions, but both contend that they are not seeking such appointments.

VICE PRESIDENT TO VISIT PETOSKEY.

PETOSKEY, Mich., March 8.—W. L. McManus, Jr., who returned here yesterday from an extensive tour of the county, during which he visited Vice President Marshall, declares that the latter will spend a portion of next summer in Petoskey, while President Wilson may do likewise. With the exception of last summer, Marshall has not missed a season here in several years.

CONDITIONS IN HOUSES HORRIBLE

Newly Appointed Deputy Tells of Foreign Boarding House Evils—Space Is Crowded.

Twenty Living in One House, While From Four to Eight Sleep in One Room—Officers Should Act.

"The conditions in at least a hundred Polish and Hungarian boarding houses in this city are awful and the board of health as well as the officers should take action regarding the matter," said Jacob Striffling, the newly appointed deputy sheriff, yesterday. "The greater part of the houses contain but three or four rooms and into many of these all of the way from 10 to 20 people are crowded, making the conditions regarding hygiene horrible. In these rooms from four to eight people sleep every night, and some of the homes which I have visited revealed the fact that in many instances two sleep on a cot which was hardly large enough for one to lie comfortably. The people of Kalamazoo should wake up to the fact that conditions rivaling those found in the slum districts of large cities prevail here under our very noses."

"I have seen enough of these conditions to know what they are with out further investigation, but shall make an effort to secure the services of the members of the police department and sheriff's force. If the officers would go with me through some of the places in this city, I fully believe that some action would be taken to wipe out the prevailing conditions which so few know of and which are a disgrace to Kalamazoo."

"The foreign element in Kalamazoo do not know how to take proper care of themselves and as they are brought up to live like this it is the duty of the others to teach them proper modes of living. Something should be done to instruct them regarding the matter and to see to it that the common rules of health are obeyed."

"I have had occasion many times to visit these homes and absolutely know that conditions there are not all that they should be."

KAZOO GIRL THIRD AND BOY FOURTH IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Miss Helen R. Crissman, the representative of Kalamazoo college, won third place in the debate in Adrian last evening. Nine colleges were represented in the debates. Her subject was "World Peace." J. Burt Bouwman, also of the college, won fourth place in the boys' contest, speaking on the subject of "Higher Destiny of Unionism."

Other winning contestants were:

First—Willis B. Perkins, Jr., Olivet, on "Equilibrium of Political Principles."

Second—Wesley F. Rennie, Hillsdale, "Kinship."

Third—Ralph L. Peterson, Albion, "Demand of Efficiency."

Fourth—Ethel Bedient, Albion, on "Tragedy of the Lower Wage."

Second—Miss DeMaagd, Hope, "The Present Crisis."

A sad feature of the evening was the fact that Miss DeMaagd, one of the winning contestants, competed without knowing that her brother, Louis, who is also a student at Hope college, fractured his neck while exercising in the gymnasium and died later. The sad news was not imparted until after the judges' decision had been made.

IMPORTANT JOB HAS NO SALARY

SECRETARY OF LABOR WILSON FINDS HIMSELF IN OFFICE WITHOUT PAY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.—Secretary of Labor W. B. Wilson, head of the newly created department, today found himself in the unique position of occupying a highly important post, without any office, employees or salary.

When congress created the department of labor, it forgot the highly important task of appropriating any funds to run it, and Wilson, after he was sworn in, discovered that he had no place to hang up his shingle and start business. The secretary at present is occupying temporary quarters in the department of commerce offices. He has a little room with a desk and a few chairs in it, and on the door a stenographer "loaned" from another department has pasted a neat slip of white paper on which is written in ink: "Department of Labor."

The present arrangement will have to stand until April 1, when the special session opens, and congress will undoubtedly immediately appropriate enough money to maintain the new department and pay Wilson's salary for March.

Wilson isn't the only cabinet officer who has had to begin his duties with only his title to sustain him. When George B. Cortelyou was made first secretary of the department of commerce and labor, President Roosevelt had to give him desk room in the White House and loan his office assistants. Several months later congress appropriated back salary for Cortelyou and his office staff.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 8.—GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 7.—Louis J. DeMaagd of Coopersville, a student at Hope college, is dying at Butterworth hospital in this city from a broken neck. DeMaagd yesterday tried to leap over the parallel bars and his toes caught, throwing him on the floor. Surgeons say there is no hope for recovery. DeMaagd's sister competes in the oratorical contest at Adrian today.

FIRST DEFINITE STEP IS TAKEN

WITH SELECTION OF COMMITTEE TO CHOOSE SITE FOR TEMPLE, UNIONISTS GROW ENTHUSIASTIC.

The committee for the purpose of choosing a site for the new labor temple has been chosen. In this action the first definite step toward the erecting of an edifice which will mean more to the union men than any other one thing has been accomplished. The committee was chosen at the meeting held last night and is composed of Homer Waterman as chairman, V. V. Jameson, E. F. Wright, William Elliott and A. Burkhardt. As the unionists of the city see that their dream is to be realized, the wildest of enthusiasm is apparent among the members and it is the belief of the labor officials that the stock will be greatly increased within a short time. It is planned to hold a tag day in the near future.

DISCUSS BANDAGES AND RESPIRATION

FIRST AID CLASS HAS LARGEST ATTENDANCE; MUST BUY MORE BOOKS.

Bandages of various kinds and sizes and their proper use were discussed at the meeting of the first aid class in the Y. M. C. A. last evening. Each bandage is covered with a drawing, showing the various uses to which it may be put. Those present were shown how to put on bandages to hold splints.

The other subject of the evening was artificial respiration. A number of questions were asked and an enlightening discussion followed.

Attendance has increased so that extra books will have to be ordered and those in charge are pleased with the success the meetings are having. Dr. C. E. Boys is the instructor.

RAISE SALARIES.

LANSING, Mich., March 8.—Representative Rayburn has introduced a bill which will provide that the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house shall each receive $2,000 for each regular session and during special sessions the same remuneration to other members. Senator Osg has introduced a bill which will give American representatives in foreign countries the right to take testimony regarding the identity of dependents who have presented claims under the compensation act.

HARD AT WORK ON CITY ESTIMATES

City Engineer's Force Preparing Construction Costs for Proposed Improvement.

Paving and Sewer Extensions Now in Hands of Department for Compilation.

The office of the city engineer is a busy place at the present time, as every member of the staff is working on the estimates which are to be presented to the finance committee in the near future. The estimates which are being prepared at the present time are for the paving and sewer extensions for the present year.

According to the plans which have been approved there will be no extensions of the main sewers during the present year, but the $25,000 which is the limit set for sewer construction, will be spent on the laying of lateral sewers from the mains already in.

The proposed paving extensions include a number of streets and the estimates on the construction are being prepared as rapidly as possible. The lists of streets to be improved is a long one and the council may be forced to cut some of the pavements out in order to keep within the bond limit for street improvement which is fixed by the city charter. The task of preparing the estimates is a big one, as the proposed cost for the construction of every bit of pavement and the laying of every foot of sewer has to be prepared in order that the council may have some light on the matter when approving the city estimates for the year.

The appropriations for the various departments of the city government will be taken up by the council in the near future and the various items approved as soon as possible in order that the construction work may be started by the department of public works as soon as the weather conditions will allow the opening of the work.

FILM CENSORS APPOINTED.

BAY CITY, Mich., March 8.—In accordance with an ordinance recently passed by the common council, Chief of Police Davis has appointed Mrs. T. L. Handy chairman of a board of censors to inspect films shown in local moving picture theaters. Mrs. Handy appointed the other members of the board.

TRAIN SCHEDULE CHANGE BENEFIT TO KAZOO PEOPLE

C. K. & S. WILD GIVE PATRONS
MUCH BETTER SERVICE UNDER NEW ARRANGEMENT.

Important changes in the schedule of the Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw railroad which will go into effect tomorrow were announced this morning by General Passenger Agent S. C. Gruessel.

These changes which will effect the line operating between here and Woodbury will be received with enthusiasm by the people living along the line and also the merchants of this city.

The most important change in the schedule is the time of train No. 3, which has for many years left Kalamazoo at 2:25. With the new revision this train will leave this city at three o'clock allowing the people between here and Woodbury an extra thirty-five minutes to do their shopping.

Leaving here the train will make close connections with the Pere Marquette at Woodbury the trains arriving at the union station there within three minutes. Another feature of the change for train No. 3 is that there is considerable Chicago business from train number 10 on the Michigan Central. Heretofore there was but fifteen minutes to make connections and many times with the Michigan Central train number 10 on the Michigan Central were forced to stay in Kalamazoo over night. The train leaving at three o'clock after today will add thirty-five minutes to the schedule and should be ample time for transfer from the Michigan Central station to the C. K. and S.

The C. K. & S. being the most direct route to Lansing many people of Kalamazoo will be interested to note the change in the running time of train No. 3. Starting tomorrow it will be possible to leave Kalamazoo at 2:30 a. m. and arrive in Lansing at 9:15. Leaving the capital at 3:47 p. m. the south bound train arrives in Kalamazoo at 7:00. Fine connections with but a three minute wait at Woodbury is the feature of this change as it will give a person practically the whole business part of the day in the capital city.

There has been no change made in train number two, which leaves this city at 10:15. Train No. 4, south bound arrives in Kalamazoo at 7:00 p. m. as usual.

TELLS PLANS OF NEW LABOR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—William B. Wilson, the "baby" member of the cabinet, and head of the new department of labor, today summed up in a few words the policy that will govern him in the discharge of his duties. While apparently he represented the report that he would be a special pleader in the cause of labor, he acknowledged to entertaining strong convictions on the labor question.

"It would not be accurate to say that I represent organized labor in performing my official duty," he said. "I shall represent the government. Of course, however, the point of view has much to do with such matters." Probably more interest is being taken in the program of the department of labor than in any other executive department of the government. Appointed virtually at the instigation of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Wilson, it was feared by those opposed to labor union methods, would decide all questions from the viewpoint of labor and that the American Federation of Labor would be the dominating spirit in the new department.

Friends of Mr. Wilson declare their confidence in his judgment and fairness. They point to his record in the house on labor legislation and they point out it was always marked by tolerance and sound sense.

In Chester, Pa., the other day, a pot collie fought against removal from beside the coffin of its dead mistress.

Real Stageland Stories

Robert Brister, who carries an important role in "One Day," knows a little something about aviation—just how little is perhaps best explained in his own words.

"I once built an airship," he confides. "It was an honest-to-goodness airship and hadn't a single thing the matter with it with the exception that it refused to fly. It was extremely disappointing when I discovered the awful fact that my machine was heavier than the air. I had been harboring a suspicion all along that it was, and when I crashed down out of the empyrean and knocked the top of the grape arbor of a personal friend and skidded gracefully into a mud puddle, I knew that my deductions had in them the element of truth."

"It wasn't the regular mud, but the sticky, black kind, guaranteed to cling a long, long time, and it came up to specifications. I spraddled all over the mud puddle, and when I came out I was one of the most undesirable citizens in the community."

His Illustrated Talk.

Arthur Lacey, English comedian, was speaking before a Bohemian club recently on the difference between the English and American stage.

"In England," he remarked, "the system of apprenticeship, under some what different forms, largely exists among actors. That is, a prospective actor or actress begins early in life to gradually build themselves up to a point where they can assume positions of importance. In America you find actors relatively inexperienced playing important parts, and it is always a matter of interest to me when I see them playing roles that we would not dare assume until after we had gone through the kindergarten course. This may be due to about the same conditions that compelled the little boy in one of your public schools to study percentage before he had learned to add and subtract."

"The superintendent was visiting the schools one day when he noticed a young shaver studiously engaged in memorizing a difficult lesson in percentage. Surprised that so little a chap should be advanced to this point, he protested to the teacher."

"You should not teach him percentage until he has learned to add, subtract and multiply," he said to the teacher.

"But," the teacher replied, "I am obliged to. The first part of his arithmetic is torn out."

Power of Money.

To further illustrate that money is all powerful, James Montgomery, author of "Ready Money," tells the story of Baron Rothschild, who was one day approached by an acquaintance for a loan. Rothschild refused his request on the ground that no security could be offered.

"But," said the unfortunate man, "what will become of my family if I do not get out of my financial difficulty?"

Rothschild thought over the matter and said: "I cannot loan you any money; that is final. But I will help you to get money. How do you have asked me for?"

"How?" asked the suppliant.

"I will let you walk down the street with me," said Rothschild.

WILSONS GO TO A SHOW, NO POMP THERE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—The national capital today is discussing the Jeffersonian simplicity of President Wilson's movements as evidenced in the attendance of the Wilson family at a downtown theater last night. Few of the audience knew of the arrival of the president, for Mr. Wilson had requested that the usual formality of playing the "Star Spangled Banner" upon his entrance be dispensed with. The only decoration on the presidential box was a shield bearing the president's insignia.

There was further evidence of lack of pomp. Only one secret service man kept guard over the person of the president and the police guard was not increased.

CONGRESSMEN CALL TO SEE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—Eager Congressmen filled the waiting room outside of postmaster general Burleson's office with smoke and chatter today ostensibly to "pay their respects," but each carrying in his pocket a little list of candidates for postmasterships. Already the most popular men in the Wilson cabinet, Burleson is feeling heavily the burden of giving the official shifter of candidates. Within the next few months he must determine on candidates to fill 36,000 or more postmasterships, big, little and medium sizes.

In the hundred or more who passed their card to the weary secretary within two hours, not one but avowed himself an original Wilson man.

The new postmaster general has done little since taking his oath of office except attend cabinet meetings and greet visiting democrats.

One of his biggest problems was placing the parcel post on a firm basis. It is still in an experimental stage.

GRADE CROSSINGS REAP BIG HARVEST

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., March 8.—The seventh railroad fatality in this city since the first of the year occurred last night when Frank Etson, a wealthy farmer of Newton township was struck by a Michigan Central passenger train at Morgan Park crossing. He was driving a team of horses. Both were killed. When found Etson was pinned beneath one of the horses and the fence. Etson was 50 years old and is survived by a wife and son. He had spent his entire life in Calhoun county.

And the great financier spoke truly; simply being with the great Rothschild saved the man from bankruptcy.

Victim of Habit.

Harry Fisher and Joseph Carroll, the comedians, were for a number of years, one of the most popular teams in vaudeville, and the habits formed in the "two-a-day" still cling to them—or at least to Fisher—when they entered the legitimate field.

On the night they opened in New York in "It Happened in Nordland," at the conclusion of the first act, Fisher went immediately to his dressing room while Carroll stopped to chat with a member of the company. He was detained some ten minutes, and when he went to look in on his partner, he was thunder struck to find him in street dress.

"What's the matter, Harry?" he asked, "aren't you going to finish the show?"

"Great Scott! I forgot I was in a production," replied Fisher as he began making a quick change back into his character. "I've got so used to washing up the minute I come off the stage the habit got the best of me. That's what vaudeville does to a man."

The curtain had to be held for ten minutes while Mr. Fisher made up again.

Costly Little Joke.

A little practical joke indulged in by Professor J. N. White, the ventriloquist appearing in vaudeville in the west, recently cost him $150 and taught him the value of caution.

It seems that the professor was in Raleigh, N. C., when a coffin containing the corpse of a negro was being taken by relatives from the train. Seeing an opportunity to have a little fun, the ventriloquist turned loose his voice in such a manner that it appeared to emanate from the coffin.

Of course the negroes dropped the load they were "toting" and fled, doing much damage to the coffin and its contents. The authorities, upon investigation, learned the cause of their scare and the practical joker had to settle.

A Doughty Britisher.

While on his last paddle across the pond, Jimmie Powers' roommate happened to be a foolish young Englishman who wore four or five different suits every day and entertained his fellow passengers with his ardent attentions to a certain Mrs. Clark from Denver. In fact, his wooing was one day attended by an interested party, at such a respectful distance that this was gleaned from over a deck house, behind which the couple had ensconced themselves.

"I would forget my country, I—er—would forget my God, you know," declared the lovesick swain. "Oh, say you will fly with me to Brittany." But the creation of the comedy was reached one morning when Powers, who occupied an upper berth, was awakened by a man leaning over him, which proved to be the Britisher fumbling at a rack overhead, from which hung every style of walking stick.

"Beg pardon, old man. Awfully sorry, you know," he said, "but I'm going to be hastily sick and I want to get the right cane."

THOMAS SEABROOKE MARRIES YOUNGSTER

Thomas C. Seabrooke, former comic opera star, recently seen in vaudeville in Kalamazoo, didn't even tell his press agent about it when he married Miss Martha Shepard in St. Louis the other day.

According to friends of the actor, he will henceforth appear in vaudeville with his mother-in-law, Mrs. George W. Quinn.

Mrs. Quinn, known on the stage as Mattie Quinn, appeared at the same theater at which Seabrooke played in St. Louis last week. With her was her daughter, Miss Shepard. They stopped at the St. James hotel, where Seabrooke also was registered.

The actor admired Mrs. Quinn's vaudeville act and suggested that she join him in "team work" under the title Seabrooke & Quinn. Mrs. Quinn hesitated, it is said by the actor's friends, because she did not wish to be separated from her daughter, who has always been her traveling companion.

Sunday Seabrooke and Miss Shepard left the St. James in a taxicab. They went to the home of Gus Ruedi, chief marriage license clerk, and obtained a license. They were married by Justice Krueger and departed from St. Louis with Mrs. Quinn at noon.

Seabrooke is 53 years old and his bride, 19. He is said to have known Mrs. Quinn and her daughter for several years.

FIND YOUNG BABE LEFT ON A PORCH

DETROIT, Mich., March 8.—Warmly wrapped, clothed in a snow white dress lying in a willow basket an infant two months old was found by Mrs. Wm. Kelley on the side porch of her home Friday night. A nursing bottle filled with milk still warm and two other bottles of milk beside it were found within the warm covering. On the shawl in which the baby was wrapped was pinned a note reading: "Eugene Ray, born the first of January. Take care of the baby. In a few weeks you will get a sum of money." The note was unsigned.

CALD PROBE A "FROST."

CHICAGO, March 8.—Lawyers and clergymen know less about the divorce problem than any other class of citizens. Their visions are grossly narrow and confined by their vocations. So announced the woman's party of Cook county today. Resolutions adopted by the women call the divorce investigation being pursued by the Illinois divorce commission "a frost."

WITH THE PLAYS AND PLAYERS

PRETTY JULIA MARLOWE

She appears here Monday evening with E. H. Sothern in "Romeo and Juliet."

Noted Actors To

Present at Fuller
"Romeo and Juliet."

The attraction at the Fuller on Monday evening, March 10, will be E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, the most distinguished interpreters of Shakespearean drama in the American theater. They will be seen in their superb production of "Romeo and Juliet," and it need scarcely be said that the engagement will be of the first importance in the local theatrical season.

Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe have won everywhere, and from all classes of playgoers, both esteem and enthusiasm, and they have made Shakespeare more popular than ever before. Their engagements have taken on the form of ovations, and it is very generally admitted that not since the days of the famous Irving-Terry combination has there been an organization which has provided so much genuine classic art, and one which has appealed so tremendously to playgoers of all classes. Their scenic productions while lavishly magnificent, are always historically accurate, and are wholly commendable and powerful adjuncts to the plays presented. They represent the very finest effects that money, intelligence and a thorough knowledge of the stage, and more especially of the requirements of the Shakespearean dramas can procure.

It is scarcely necessary at this time to comment on the skillful, potent and versatile art of Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe. It is pleasant to note, however, that they will be seen here in most engaging roles; and so well selected has been the play that most attractive entertainment may be safely anticipated. The splendid art of the two players will have ample opportunity for illustration. The large and excellent supporting organization includes such well known names as Frederick Lewis, Rowland Buckstone, Sidney Mather, J. Sayre Crawley,

MRS. LESLIE CARTER

This well known actress will appear here soon in "Zaza."

"The Red Widow" Is An Excellent Musical Comedy.

In sending Raymond Hitchcock and his colossal company in the sensational musical play, "The Red Widow" on a brief tour, Cohan & Harris have taken advantage of stage craft in order to make this the most perfect entertainment that has ever been produced. The first act is a miniature theater placed upon the real theater stage. The last act is the gorgeous winter palace of the Czar of Russia. The Czar will be represented by his chief of police, Ivan Scorpione, and Baron Maximilian Scardovich, the Princess Sophia and Countess Alexandra. On the trail of these Russian autocrats will be the desperate nihilist Tantal Popova and several others of his famous band. They will be held in check by a regiment of the Russian Imperial Guards in command of Captain Basil Romanoff. The play will be produced at the Fuller soon.

"The Rainbow" Will Be Early Attraction At The Fuller.

A. E. Thomas, author of "The Rainbow" which Henry Miller is bringing to the Fuller soon has peopled his story with men and women who live and breathe through the three acts of the comedy. "The Rainbow" is a play with live matter in it, full of the healthy sort of emotion that reaches down into the hearts of audiences. Its characters are drawn from observations of life, not from memories of other characters in other days. Every person in the story seems like an old acquaintance whom one recognizes and is glad to see. The play gives Mr. Miller a really wonderful role and he plays it with compelling sincerity and feeling, authority and humor. Moreover, Mr. Miller has staged the comedy with complete sympathy and understanding, and he has assembled for his support a brilliant cast that fits ideally into the characters of the play. He is bringing to the Fuller the same company that appeared with him throughout the long New York run.

School Credits for Boys and Girls Who Do Industrial Work at Home

If a boy or girl passes algebra after studying it for four or five periods each week for ten months, and receives one credit, how many credits should the same girl receive if in addition she has washed dishes, made two beds and swept and dusted a room each day during that same ten months; and how many credits should that same boy receive if in addition to his study of algebra, he has split the wood, mowed the lawn, cleaned the sidewalks and tended the furnace each day during that period?

THIS is the question which is just now being considered by some of the educators of the country, and is one, the solution of which points the addition of homemaking to the school curriculum in many states.

Indeed, already the movement has been taken up in Oregon, and now regular credits are given to pupils doing systematic home work and the home is working out in a thorough practical way. The system provides for keeping tab on the work through printed slips prepared to suit the age of the child. On these slips are recorded the things done and the time consumed in doing. They are reports from the home to the school, and upon these reports the teacher awards the credit. It is another step toward the complete co-operation between the home and school.

The argument is made that industrial work in the schools is frequently so different from the actual work at home that it is not much affected by it, but this giving of credits for home work in a measure overcomes this obstacle, for study is given to manual training in addition.

The whole scheme had its inception in the idea of L. R. Alderman, state superintendent of public instruction in Oregon.

"I had noticed," he said, "that one of my most cheeked little girls, Mary, spent most of her time after school on the streets. One day Mary's mother was pointed out to me—a nervous little woman with several children—and I was filled with indignation at the circumstances which were drawing Mary's interests away from the home where her services were so much needed. I thought, what is the use of teaching Mary algebra, when what she needs to learn is that her mother is her best friend and needs her help. All civilization is founded on the home. The school should be a real helper to the home. One way the school may do this is to take into account the home industrial work, and honor it by giving credits for work done along this line. So a teacher talked of sewing, and all the girls wanted to sew. She talked of ironing, and all the girls wanted to iron. She talked of working with tools and both boys and girls wanted to make things. And so the interest spread, and now credits are given for work done in the home."

"It means that home work is being honored, and dignified—that its importance is becoming recognized, and that boys and girls will be better prepared to build and make their homes in the future," he said.

In a number of schools in Oregon this plan is followed out, and the children are given the same credit for home industrial work which they are given for one subject.

What this means to the children, to their homes, to their fathers and mothers, and incidentally to the school is immeasurable. Now a number of other states are considering the matter, and it is not improbable that home work will form an important part in the future curriculum of the schools of this country.

Chicken Aspic Salad

Set small glass molds in a pan of crushed ice. In the bottom of each mold place a slice of olive and arrange around a ring of capers, then pour in about an inch of aspic jelly. Now put in a layer of minced roast chicken beaten up with a little thick cream. Fill the mold with more aspic and set aside until cold and firm, leaving the molds in the ice until that point is reached. Turn out upon a leaf of lettuce and send to the table with a mayonnaise dressing.

Requested Recipes

Clams on Toast.
WASH clams and put in a kettle with just enough water to keep from burning. Heat until shells open. Remove clams and save liquor. Heat clams in part of liquor, season with salt, pepper and butter. If strong, put in half cream or milk. Toast bread carefully; moisten in remainder of liquor heated and seasoned for the purpose. Butter liberally and pour the clams over this. Before the milk is added it is necessary to boil them gently 30 to 45 minutes.

Sardine Rarebit.
Toast in oven six slices of bread. Drain the oil from two cans of sardines into a cup and add to the oil a small piece of grated garlic, the juice of half a lemon, half a teaspoonful of tobacco, and a very small sprinkling of black pepper. Put this in a frypan with half a cup of butter and let melt very slowly. Chop fine the sardines, two hard boiled eggs, a dozen olives and one whole pimento and add one tablespoon very finely cut parsley. Dip each slice of toast into the warm oil and lay in baking pan. Then put the sardine mixture in the remaining oil, adding a little soup stock or milk. Stir and cook a few minutes. Cover each slice of toast thickly with this and set in medium hot oven about five minutes. Serve hot.

Meat Rolls.
Take 25 cents' worth of round steak and put it through meat grinder. Take two slices of bacon cut in pieces, a medium sized onion, half a green pepper, and put in a frying pan with a little butter. Brown, add meat, three tablespoons tomatoes and let steam two hours, turning often. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. Make rich pie crust, fill with meat and make individual rolls. Bake till brown and serve with tomato sauce. This will make enough for four persons.

Chicken Custard.
Cut a young fowl into quarters, take the lungs away from the backbone, wash the fowl and place it in a stewpan with a little parsley, half a head celery and turnip. Fill the stewpan with three pints cold water, place it on the fire and as soon as it boils skim it thoroughly; put in pepper and salt according to taste. Let boil for one hour and a half, after which strain the broth into a basin through a napkin and use it in the following manner: According to the number of custard cups required to be filled place as many yolks of eggs in a basin. To these add the same number of custard cups of prepared chicken broth. With a fork beat these together in order to mix thoroughly; then pass through the tammy, fill the custard cups, put the cups in a pan of water in the oven. Steam them in the usual manner.

Mutton Broth.
Wipe two pounds neck of mutton; remove all fat and cut off skin; cut meat in small pieces. Put meat and bones in kettle; add four cupfuls of cold water, and simmer gently several hours; add salt to taste. Strain, let stand over night to cool; in the morning remove fat, reheat, and serve with two tablespoonfuls of cooked rice in broth.

Latest Tourist Hat Models Made of Waterproof Silk

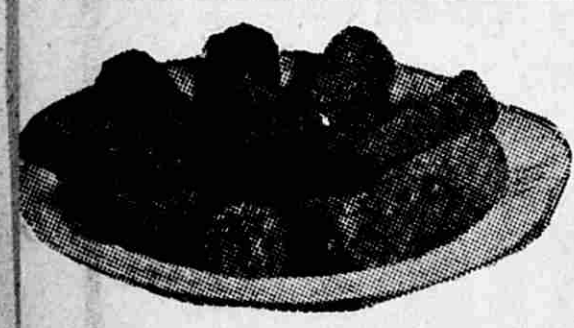

THE latest model in tourist hats is an affair of waterproofed silk having a rounded crown and a two-inch broad brim, both sections closely machine stitched in circling rows. Midway of each side of that hat is a slit extending from the outer edge to the brim to lower edge of the crown and along one side of each slit extends a row of tiny buttonholes which fit over buttons attached to the side of the crown.

By this means one half of the brim may be fastened flatly upward about the crown, leaving the remaining half to shield the brow and the tips of the ears. As the brim of hats of this sort invariably is faced with a color contrasting strongly with the outer side of the headgear, the effect of the two shades is exceedingly smart. Especially good are the hats in gun metal or taupe waterproofed silk faced with light blue, cerise or Irish green and although originally designed for tourists they are smart for golfing and general wear in the country.

A most convenient article to keep in one's cupboard is a 5-cent varnish brush, which may be kept in a baking powder can, containing an inch or two shortening. Being in tin, it is but the work of a moment to melt over the fire and it is so satisfactory to paint your cakepans and loaves of bread, etc. Be sure to get a color haired brush so if a hair comes out it is quickly seen.

Good Things to Serve for Refreshments

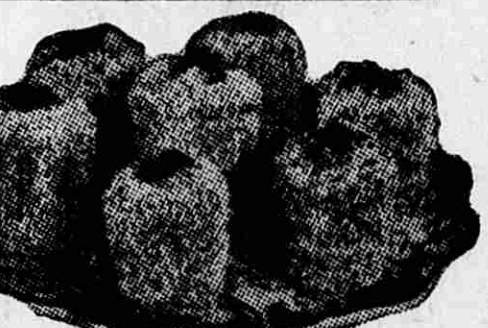

Nut Croquettes. Put one cupful of chopped roasted peanuts into a basin, add two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, a quarter of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, half a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of onion juice, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley and one large beaten egg.

Mix and form into neat croquettes. Dip them in flour, then brush over with beaten egg, roll in fine breadcrumbs or crushed vermicelli, and fry in plenty of smoking hot oil.

Cherry Coconut Cake. Beat two cupfuls of butter and three cupfuls of sugar to a cream, add eight eggs well beaten, three-quarters of a cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of almond extract, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, six cupfuls of flour, one pound of coconut and one tablespoonful of baking powder. Mix carefully and bake in a moderate oven until ready. When cold cover with boiled frosting and sprinkle with chopped coconut. Decorate with glace cherries.

Coconut Cakes. Cream four ounces of butter with four ounces of sugar, then gradually add two well-beaten eggs, four ounces of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder and three tablespoonfuls of chopped coconut.

Mix and divide into small buttered and floured cakes and bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes. Turn out, and when cool brush over with melted jelly and roll in finely chopped coconut or in blanched and chopped almonds.

Tailored Suits Foundation of Wardrobe

NO MATTER how elaborate may be one's wardrobe, how many beautiful evening gowns, afternoon frocks, dainty negligees and all that you may have, if you haven't a smart tailored suit, you have not the foundation laid for your wardrobe. For there's nothing which serves the purpose at all times so well as does the tailored suit.

The modes this spring are particularly chic. To be sure there are the extreme things in the Balkan blouses and the Bulgarian models, but the average tailored suit has a smartness of line, a style and a jaunty which makes it most attractive. Cutaway effects are still good, and there are many variations from the moderately rounded fronts to the extreme lines.

Illustrated herewith is a group of extremely fashionable tailored suits, and the smartness lies in their plainness and the gracefulness of their lines.

Fanciful Tales Might Be Woven About the White House Change

Small Hand of Woman Working Wonderful Transformation in the Nation's Executive Mansion

BY BLANCHE DRAPER.
AND now again the White House is to be completely changed. Not that the architecture is to be altered. No indeed. The White House is the White House, just as it was years ago, and will be in years to come.

But nevertheless, the White House is being changed. And it's a woman's hand that is changing it.

For were it but the merest cabin, with only the veriest essentials, and those permanent and stationary, the exit of one woman and the entrance of another to make it her place of abode would presage, as clearly as could possibly be that there would be a big change. For no woman would tolerate the exact surroundings which had been arranged by another woman.

And so with the retirement of Mrs. William Howard Taft from the White House, which has been her abode for these past four years, and the incoming of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the inevitable change of setting, of color, of character as it were, is due, and it remains to be seen what the change will be.

Rumor has it that the White house will be a very home-like place for the next four years; at least; that it will lose very much of the formality which characterized it in the earlier years; that there will be nothing of the elaboration which marked the Roosevelt occupancy, and not even the formality, comparatively simple though it was, which marked the Taft tenancy will exist during the Wilson regime.

Be that as it may, one may weave a most fanciful picture about the transitions now in progress in the home of the First Family in the Land. Were the furnishings of that mansion animate they might express no small degree of interest in the changes now transpiring. What would the dresser and the wardrobes have to say about the change in the dainty lingerie and the dinner gowns and the beautiful hats which they are to hold? What would the mirrors have to say concerning the change in the baubles and the scenes which they are to reflect? What would the big kitchen have to say of the manner in which it is to be remodeled to suit the taste of a woman with home-loving tastes first of all? Would the dining room table sigh for the fear that during the next four years it might miss some of the familiar faces which have been reflected in its shining top, or would it heave one long breath of relief at the announcement of the probable dearth of large dinners and social functions?

Indeed one might picture an interminable series of conferences between these inanimate occupants of the White house, and the tales which these same inanimate things might tell, would doubtless be of exceedingly more human interest than any similar story yet told by mortal tongue.

But the White house is being changed. It's the small white hand of homeloving woman that's doing it, and the result is of paramount interest to women of the land at this particular moment.

The Business Girl Who Knows It All.

(By Blanche Draper.)

YOU are one of the most disagreeable business girls with whom other business people have to associate, the Business Girl Who Knows It All.

You are to be found in every office and every business place, and you are always domineering over everybody with whom you associate. You are the girl who thinks there is nothing at all about the business in which you are engaged, which you do not know better than any one else, and no matter how much superior may be the work of others, you are always ready with the assertion, if not in words, at least in actions, that you know much better how it should be done, and how to accomplish it.

And indeed, you are not the girl who will help another along the road to efficiency. You enjoy altogether too well the distinction which you give to yourself of knowing more than anyone else to help any other person. You are selfish, you are snobbish, you are disagreeable, you are unpopular, you are all the things which go into the making of a generally unpopular business girl.

Why don't you stop and look at yourself? Take an inventory of what you know, and then take just as complete an inventory of what you don't know. Take this latter inventory just as you would if you were dealing with another person. Then compare the two, and find out how much more there is that you do not know than that you do know. See if that won't make a bit of a difference in the esteem in which you hold yourself. Then stop to consider that there are others with even greater capabilities than yours, others who know very much more about a great many things than you do, and make up your mind that it's very foolish for you to be the Business Girl Who Knows It All. As a matter of fact you don't know it all—you can't. But you will display a whole heap more wisdom if you just stop and remember how disagreeable you are.

A Tribute to Women

IT TAKES one hundred men to make an encampment, but one woman to make a home. I not only admire woman as the most beautiful object ever created, but I reverence her as the redeeming glory of humanity, the sanctuary of all virtues, the pledge of perfect qualities of heart and head. It is not just right to lay the sins of men at the feet of women. It is because women are so much better than men that their faults are considered greater. The one thing in this world that is constant, the one peak that rises above all clouds, the one window in which the light forever burns, the one star that darkness cannot quench is woman's love. It rises to the greatest heights, it sinks to the lowest depths. It forgives the most cruel injuries. It is perennial of life and grows in every climate. Neither coldness nor neglect, harshness nor cruelty can extinguish it. A woman's love is the perfume of the heart. This is the real love that subdues the earth, the love that wrought all miracles of art; that gives us music all the way from the cradle song to the grand closing symphony that bears the soul away on wings of fire. A love that is greater than power, sweeter than life and stronger than death.

HER WORK.

White cotton crepe is an excellent material for dish towels. After being washed to take out the stiffness it is absorbent and non-irritant and sufficiently rough to give a high polish to glass ware.

Equal parts of powdered borax and well pulverized moth balls will entirely exterminate all kinds of roaches.

When removing stains from a piece of linen, put the article in embroidery hoops, so that the stain comes in the center of the circle. This will hold it taut and make it much easier to remove the stain.

If you wear a large pair of thick leather gloves while baking you will save your fingers many burns, and save yourself many steps looking for the misplaced holder.

Japanese Toweling Jumps to Place of Favor

IF YOU'RE really up to the very last minute in the matter of home furnishings, and home decoration, you have learned the varied uses of Japanese toweling.

Indeed, everybody uses Japanese toweling these days, and they use it for every conceivable purpose from the handsome luncheon cloths to the bathroom curtains, and the shaving towels for the lord and master of the house.

That's exactly how popular it is. And needless to say, if you are right up to the mark, you're using it for some purpose or other.

It's because it is attractive; because it washes beautifully; because it never fades, and because it's cheap, that women have taken such a terrific fancy to it—and may be the fact that it's imported, hand made in some instances, and always stamped by hand work, has something to do with the fascination with which it is regarded generally.

It comes in long strips, and it's quite narrow. Usually it is in blue and white, and the patterns are so quaint and interesting that they never fail to delight the woman looking for something a bit unusual. This toweling is not linen, indeed, it's only cotton, but Japanese cotton is quite as valuable and quite as durable as is linen.

Sometimes one gets the patterns with napkins to match. In that instance, two runners are used on the table, crossing at right angles, and it makes an excellent setting for the table when the quaint old china is used. Many prefer not to use the little napkins, which are already made in tiny squares, and instead cut out the napkins from the towels.

Three widths of this toweling set together with lace makes an ideal table cloth, completely covering the table, and in many instances whole dining-rooms are carried out in a single pattern of Japanese Toweling. Curtains, table cloth, napkins, sideboard cover and all are made to match, while it's comparatively an easy matter to make trays of the material.

Because it launders so nicely and withstands the sunlight, it is used quite frequently for curtains, and the latest use to which it has been put is for shaving towels for the man of the house, being regarded as an especially acceptable gift.

SOCIETY

With each succeeding week of the Lenten period there seems to be an even greater quiet in social circles and during the past week there has been positively nothing of any importance on the calendar of society happenings.

Were it not for the millinery openings there would have been nothing of interest with which to while away the hours for the leaders of society. As it is, millinery bustles herself with visiting the shops, attending morning prayers and vespers, and incidentally planning her spring wardrobe. Some plans are being made for post lenten functions, the most important of which is to be the Charity Ball for the benefit of the Children's Home which will be the big event of Easter week. Rumor is busy with talk of engagements in prominent families, but none of these are as yet announced.

Two more weeks remain of the penitential season at the conclusion of which will begin the activities of the season with great furor.

Today Mrs. Allen Potter, wife of Kalamazoo's first mayor, celebrated her 87th birthday anniversary, the event being marked by a most delightful social function given at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John J. Knight, when the latter entertained a company of thirty-two friends of the honored guest.

All day long Mrs. Potter has been showered with flowers and gifts from her multitude of friends in this city, who revere Mrs. Potter as few women in Kalamazoo are revered.

Particularly appropriate for the spring time was the decoration which Mrs. Knight used, the entire decoration being carried out in lavender sweet peas. Clusters of the fragrant blossoms were everywhere and adorned the tables, where the 5 o'clock supper was served. The place cards carried out the same color scheme, while the favors were cunning lavender baskets.

The afternoon was spent delightfully in visiting and recalling reminiscences. Those who were invited to celebrate Mrs. Potter's birthday anniversary were the following: Messdames Mary Tomlinson, C. L. Cobb, Sarah Balch, George Larned, Jeanette Moore, Hannah Cornell, Williams, J. M. Edwards, Gates, Gies, C. Burnham, B. L. Desenberg, Harriet Bush, John DenBleyker, Geo. Larned, Geo. POLICE SERGEANT, HERO, SEES FIRST SPRING ROBIN TODAY

A herio has been discovered in Kalamazoo, one who will stand in the face of mighty opposition and despite the jeers of his fellowmen spread the truth abroad throughout the Celery City.

The hero is Police Sergeant Ferguson and he has seen the first robin, the harbinger of spring.

When the well-known police officer came from his home on Bur Oak street this morning he little dreamed that he would become a hero before reaching the police department. As he neared the station he suddenly heard a sound which is only heard with the coming of spring. It was the song of the robin, and glancing quickly toward a nearby tree he spied the bird, perched on the top most limb and huddled against the trunk to avoid the chilly winter blast.

The sergeant rubbed his eyes, pinched himself to make sure that he was awake and then looked again. The robin was still there and looking down upon the ice-clad earth as though regretting his hasty action in leaving the south land.

The officer did not stop for another look, but hot footed it to the station, where he intended to make known the news to his fellow officers. As he entered the door, however, his courage failed him and it was not until late this afternoon that he mustered the courage to tell to a patrolman in a confiding whisper that he had witnessed the first harbinger of spring.

That children have the ability to interpret literature was evident last evening, when the pupils of the Portage street eighth grade English class presented "Evangeline," to an appreciative audience. The portrayal of the various characters was excellently well done, and the scenes dramatized, manifested the inherent love of children for the aesthetic and the beautiful, when intelligently developed. The entire class was represented, each one acting his part and entering into the spirit of the time and the play, with credit to the school.

Mrs. Roy Eaton and Mrs. H. Hoghtelling, of Otego, were in the city Friday.

Mr. Greene will continue to act in after which he will teneago in business, will take a much needed rest,

Tells Awful Story of How Little Girls Are Forced Into Careers of Shame

CHICAGO, March 8.—A frightful story from the white slave underworld was made public today by the Illinois senate white slave commission. It was revealed to the investigating commission in executive session yesterday.

The girl, who had been an inmate of an immoral resort, and whose identity was concealed under the initials "E. G.," is in a hospital, a complete wreck. Brought before the committee in an almost helpless condition, she testified that she turned to a life of shame after her husband died, leaving her to support a small child.

"The most I could earn was $4 a week," she said.

"That wouldn't even buy things to eat."

Her story of the imprisonment of a young girl who had been seduced by a cadet stunned the senators.

"This little girl—17 years old—was brought to the resort where I lived by a procurer," she testified.

"They carried her upstairs, fighting like a mad woman and locked her in a room. Her clothes were taken from her. The cadet brought men to see her and she was assaulted at least 100 times before she submitted. I could hear her screaming and crying every night for two weeks."

"Where is she now?" asked one of the probers.

"She's at the hospital, too," answered the girl, and she sobbed.

"I guess she's about gone."

"I didn't believe there was such a hell on earth," said Senator Juul, today, commenting on the girl's story.

The probers today requested the county coroner's office to furnish them with a list of women who have committed suicide because they were unable to obtain employment.

"Despondent women, worn out by toil in shops and stores, see no other end than suicide," said Lieutenant Governor O'Hara.

"I want these facts brought before the public."

While Hillman was on the stand, James Simpson, vice president of Marshall Field & Co. who yesterday refused to reveal the profits of that mammoth corporation told the probers that they could have the company's books, but that he would resist any attempt to give publicity to those figures.

DETOIRT SUFFRAGISTS HAVE BIG BUTTON DAY

"Button, Button, who'll wear a button?" is the query which several hundred Detroit girls, pretty, all of 'em, will put to the men whom they meet in their rounds through the town Saturday.

No, the buttons, are not on sale. They'll be given to all who promise to love, wear and cherish from now until election day, not so very far away, by the way.

At the same time, opportunity will be given for contributions to the cause, and toy balloons bearing "Votes for Women," will also be on sale.

While all this is going on, it is whispered that the anti-suffragists will be out distributing their literature to counteract the suffrage arguments.

NAPS' MANAGER IS GOOD FELLOW

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 8.—A stranger in the grandstand at Maxent park, where the Naps are training, couldn't pick out the manager of the Nap squad if he watched the work-outs for a week.

The only persons who hear any managing going on are the ones within 10 feet of Manager Joe when an order is issued.

There is no sharp word of command, yelling from one side of the field to the other, nor any row of schoolboys lined up occasionally for a demonstration. On the field it is a quiet word and merely a suggestion.

It is "Try tracing yourself more for the throw," "Swing more naturally," and "Don't try for too much of a delivery" to a pitcher, "I find it better to meet the ball than to let it come to me," says Birney to the recruits in infield practice, when they stand still and wait for the ball to come to them.

The words are never spoken loud enough for the rest of the squad to hear. There is no trouble about getting the fellow out on time, and Birney is the first to start for the field. "I guess we've had enough today," is the signal for the windup. There is no horse play on the way home.

The only time Birney is manager, apparently, is the few minutes in the evening when he and Vice-President Barnard and possibly Bob Gilks, Nap scout, meet in Barnard's room.

Birney follows the training rules laid down for the squad. He asks the squad to walk both ways to and from the park twice a day, and does it himself. Two or three times when Barnard has been going out to the park at the same time they have met on the hotel, Birney to walk and Barnard to ride in a taxi.

Children are much more likely to contract the contagious diseases when they have colds. Whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and consumption are diseases that are often contracted when the child has a cold. That is why all medical authorities say "beware of colds." For the quick cure of colds you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

PACKEY M'FARLAND IS AFTER RITCHIE

NEW YORK, March 8.—Jack Britton, the much-touted New York lightweight, whose chances of climbing to the top of the division were considered bright, lost the immediate possibility of a match with Willie Ritchie when he was out-pointed last night by Packey McFarland, the Chicago whirlwind.

Today fight officials were unanimous in the opinion that Packey had clearly the best of eight of the ten rounds at Madison Square Garden. Had it not been for the shiftness of Britton he would certainly have fallen by the swift and clever attack of the western boxer. In the two rounds where Britton had a shade, McFarland seemed to be resting and at the end of the bout the stocky champion was undoubtedly master of the situation. Today his manager announced he would set sail for Ritchie and would not stop until the champion consented to a match. He expressed confidence that his charge can train down to the lightweight limit.

VETTER PLAYERS TO BE AWARDED LOVING CUPS

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN FOR HIGHEST BATTING AND FIELDING AVERAGE FOR SEASON.

Members of the Vetter baseball team during the coming season will have two prizes hung up for individual work during the season. President Vetter has announced that he will give two loving cups, which will be awarded at the close of the season to the players having the highest batting average and the player having the highest fielding average.

The officials of the team are preparing the schedule for the aggregation at the present time and already a number of games for the opening of the season have been secured. It is possible that the Vetter's will play a series of games with the Southern Michigan league team before the season starts and several other teams will be taken on during the opening weeks.

Practice for the aggregation will be started as soon as the weather moderates and the candidates will all be ready for the first game.

BANQUET ROAD BUILDERS.

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., March 8.—The business men of this city have decided to make the big road meeting scheduled for this place for March 13, and 14 a memorable event, so they are arranging for a banquet in honor of the road builders. This banquet will occur at the close of the first day and will be followed by speeches from those men who are making western Michigan famous because of the amount of highway improvement that is now going on.

STRUCK BY CAR.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 8.—Joseph Neff, drove his carriage onto the street car track on State street, in an effort to get on the right side of the street, and did not see an approaching car till he was on the tracks. The car struck the rear of the carriage, and threw Neff to the pavement, breaking one of his ankles, and injuring him internally.

Paul Sikora is in Good Again

Paul Sikora, champion of Michigan, who was one of the principals in the final bout staged by the Kalamazoo Athletic club at its last meeting in this city, went eight rounds to a draw with Danny McRae, at Flint, last night. From reports received this morning the bout was the best ever pulled off in the Auto city and there was not an idle minute to be located during the fray de gloves.

McRae did fine work and put up a much better bout than he did with Patsy Drouillard several weeks ago. The fourth and fifth rounds went to McRae by a shade. Sikora came back strong and when McRae started to tire from the fast pace easily earned the honors in the closing rounds. Sikora's right hand which was hurt in his bout with Grover Hayes at Windsor bothered the little Detroit star.

Referee Foote had a hard time breaking the boys. Both were over anxious and fought in the clinches as much as they were allowed to. Sikora excelled at in-fighting and endeavored to keep in close, several times hitting the one-step back rule and not to be warned repeatedly.

McRae appeared in great condition and outside of his bad hand, Sikora's condition was excellent and he finished stronger than the local man.

WOODWARD DEFEATS PORTAGE 54-3

In one of the most exciting games of the season Woodward avenue high defeated Portage high, at the Woodward avenue school, by a score of 54 to 3. Although Portage was out weighed the members put up a stubborn battle, holding Woodward to a small score in the first half, 11 to 2. Woodward had plenty of tries for the basket, but the ball seemed magnetized and refused to make. They took a decided brace in the second half, making 43 points.

By winning this game Woodward tightens its hold on the lead. There will be one more game to decide the high school championship, to be played at the East avenue school. Coach Freeman, of the Woodward school, was much pleased with the team, and will have them in the best of condition for the final game. The line-up:

Woodward High. Portage High. Hoekstra, R. F. Pash, Van DeBerg, L. F. Harter, Tolhurst, C. C. Neary, Bowen, R. G. Simmonds, Kurtz, Tennell, L. G. LaBlanc.

Goals from field—Woodward: Hoekstra, 3; Van DeBerg, 5; Tolhurst, 11; Bowen, 5; Portage: Simmonds, 1; Foulis, 1; Woodward, Hoekstra, 6; Portage: Pash, 1.

MARQUARD TO REPORT SOON

MARLIN, Texas, March 8.—Rube Marquard is to report to the Giants in Marlin, March 20, according to the latest advices received regarding the insipidities of the actor southward.

Rube's vaudeville engagements close in California the middle of the month and word has been had from him that he will then pack up and hike for Texas to rejoin his mates.

The regulars beat the second team 3 to 2 yesterday afternoon and though the batting was not heavy three-baggers cut a big figure in the scoring. Murray made one and drove in a run for the second team.

STRONG TIGE TEAM NEEDED FOR GAME

GULFPORT, Miss., March 8.—Manager Jennings of the Tigers planned to use the strongest team that he could put in the field this afternoon when the Tigers meet the Cincinnati Reds in the first of a two-game series at Mobile. The Detroit squad left Gulfport at 10:30 this morning.

Jennings will work the same infield that has done service in the practice games here, in the series with the Reds. He has named seven pitchers to make the trip. The outfield will probably consist of Veach, High and Powell. The Tigers yesterday defeated the Mississippi State Normal College at Hattiesburg in a listless lop-sided game. The final score showed the Tigers on top of a 12 to 0 score.

BIG SMOKE TO WORK IN PARIS?

PARIS, March 8.—An attempt is being made here, it was learned today to bring about a fight between Jack Johnson, if he succeeds in getting out of the jaws entanglement in Michigan and Al Palmer.

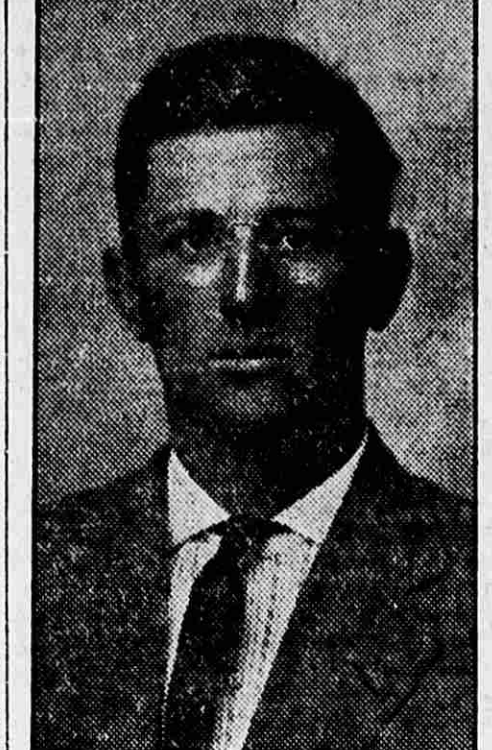

The bout is planned for June, but there is little interest in it as negro pugilists just now are under the ban in France.

ST. CHAIR PIONEER DIES.

EMMITT, Mich., March 8.—Mrs. John Furlong, a pioneer resident of St. Clair county, died at her home in Riley township at the age of 85 years. Mrs. Furlong was one of the earliest settlers of the county.

She is survived by three married daughters and two sons, James Riley, of Detroit, is a son.

COACH MATHER HAS TEAM GOING RIGHT

Popular leader of the Kalamazoo college team has worked hard to drill basketball team so that victory from Olivet will be certain.

RECRUIT HITS THE PILL HARD

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 8.—Another ideal day gave Manager Dahlen and his 21 athletes an opportunity to put in four hours' good work at Warren park today.

The morning session was almost entirely devoted to the trying out of different kinds of plays.

In yesterday's scrub game which was won by the regulars by a score of 13 to 3, Callahan, a recruit from the Elmira club, hit safely three out of the five times at bat. Hall, Allen and Rucker pitched for the winners, while Curtis and Yingling labored for the Dauberts.

CHANCE TO HAVE LINE ON PLAYERS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 8.—The line-up was announced today for the first practice game between the Highlanders and Arthur Irwin's substitutes. Out of the contest Frank Chance expects to get an idea as to the team he will put in the field against the Jersey City outfit when the two aggregations play here Tuesday. The expected arrival of President Frank Farrell, who sailed from New York yesterday, has put a lot of ginger into the players.

A COLD, LA GRIPPE, THEN PNEUMONIA

Is too often the fatal sequence. La Grippe coughs hang on, weakens the system, and lower the vital resistance. R. G. Collins, Postmaster, Barnegat, N. J. says: "I was troubled with a severe La Grippe cough and was completely exhausted after each fit of violent coughing. Before I had taken one half of a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, the coughing spells had entirely ceased. I wish to say it can't be beat. All others are imitations." Doid's Drug Store, Main and Rose Sts.

M'GRAW LIKES TO SEE THORPE WORK

MARLIN, Tex., March 8.—That Johnny McGraw has great confidence in the ability of Jim Thorpe was shown today when he transferred the Indian back to the first team. Thorpe has been showing up well as a member of the Yarnigans, and it looks as if he has cinched a place in the Giants lineup. Word was received here that Rube Marquard was playing in vaudeville in the west and will show up for practice March 20.

LOCAL PUG GETS DRAW AT LAWTON

LAWTON, Mich., March 8.—Before a crowd that in round numbers did not exceed the limit, Slick Ridley, the Kalamazoo heavyweight and Shorty Harris, the Dowagiac Black hope, fought eight rounds to a draw last night. In the opening rounds the Stove town hope had all the best of the Celery City hope, going bad. In the second Ridley claimed Harris hit him several times when he was not looking.

Both hopes came strong toward the finish and the popular decision was a shade—a dark one. The size of the crowd did not come up to expectations but there was plenty of vim from bell to bell. A scrapper by the name of Foley, from Kalamazoo took on an unknown quantity by the name of Steffie for several rounds. There were several good preliminaries. All things considered the show was a sweet one and fully came up to expectations.

Horse racing (with running horses) is still immensely popular in the richest cities of South America.

A goat ranch in Texas has 10,000 Angora goats, and the profits last year are stated at about $1 for every goat.

SOME BASKETBALL GAME IS ON TODAY

ALBION, Mich., March 8.—The contest that decides the Michigan Intercollegiate basketball championship is to be pulled off here this afternoon, between Hillsdale and Albion. Both teams have been having the hardest practice of the season this week, trying to get in the best of condition to win the state honors.

There seems to be no question but that the dope favors the Baptists. The opinion outside of the local body seems to be that Hillsdale will cop the title. Local sentiment is strongly behind Captain Evans' men, however, and the college gymnasium will be taxed to its capacity with rooters expecting to see the Methodists give Coach Hunt's squad a hard fight.

It is likely that the regular line-up will start against the Baptists. Poleski has been nursing a bad hand all week but it is better and the quintet will go into the battle free from injuries. The line-up will probably be as follows:

Player	Position
Evans	Right Forward
Field	Left Forward
Barnard	Center
Poleski	Right Guard
Allen	Left Guard

HOW TO BE A STAR BOWLER.

(By Capt. Ray Brundage of the Kalamazoo City-Savings Bank team.) Many people have asked me to explain my system of bowling so that they might explain it to others who they desired to see become experts. In the past I have modestly refrained from explaining the system which has made me the star that I am. Too many stars might prove a bad thing. As I am soon to announce my retirement from the game I will elucidate on this date as follows:

Principle 1—Carefully inspect the alleys before, and after each game. Often times a player will detect considerable change in that manner.

Principle 2—Never close one eye when aiming. Use the extra eye to watch the score board. Always carry a small piece of chalk in your vest pocket.

Principle 3—To be a successful bowler you must be graceful. Take strong exercises daily. Many times during the day gently rise on your toes gently, softly inhaling and exhaling the one at the same time. I secure better effects from this exercise by removing my shoes.

Principle 4—Always be friendly to the pin boy. Be careful in selecting those with whom you play. Select your own diet. Do not smoke.

SHORT SPORT JABS

Bill Killefer had to wire back to find out if it was Northern Pines, South Carolina or Southern Pines, North Carolina, he was supposed to report to the Phillie team for training.

Nothing has been heard from the Kalamazoo-City Savings bank bowlers since they sailed for the Bermuda Islands. Capt. Brundage predicted they would return some day, which is a hopeful sign, 'twould seem.

Manager Jennings, of the Tigers, says that he never felt in better shape since he quit the actual playing of baseball than he does this spring. Last spring Hughey was far from being an entirely well man.

When the contract from the Washington team arrived at the Cuban home of Acosta, new Senator outfielder, Acosta's father, who is mayor of the town of Marinanoa, Cuba, declared a holiday, and saw to it that everybody was entertained in a fashion befitting the event.

COLLEGE TEAM IS OUT TO EVEN UP

Coach Mather will lead his team of college hustlers against Olivet at that city tonight and the knowing ones are predicting that the locals will make Coach Riders aggregation of basketball shooters take the short end of the score this time. Two weeks ago Olivet came here and won out by a score of 28 to 14, but the game was the first that the newly organized local aggregation had attempted.

Since that date Coach Mather has been working tooth and nail to put his team in high class shape and in the many games with the scrubs during the last week the team has shown much class. Mather's five have not lost a game since the opener and they are out this time to gain revenge for the drubbing which the Crimson terrors handed them while in this city.

The next two contests for Olivet, the Kalamazoo and Hillsdale games, are regarded as the most important ones of the season. Practice both afternoons and evenings has been the strenuous work which Rider has been giving the team and nothing will be left undone to put the "five" in the best of condition for these struggles. Hillsdale is booked to play on the Olivet floor Tuesday of next week.

It now is almost certain that this game will decide the M. I. A. A. championship and both schools are putting forth great efforts to pull down a victory.

In the mean time the local quintet hopes to take the measure of the chesty Olivet bunch.

CLOSE POOD ROOMS AT 10 P. M.

PONTIAC, Mich., March 8.—City Attorney Bromley and Prosecuting Attorney Doty will hold a conference early next week at which time the provisions of a city ordinance requiring pool rooms to close at 10 o'clock will be gone over. The prosecutor asks the adoption of such an ordinance.

POSTAL CLERKS TO HAVE SALARY RAISE

NEW LAW ADOPTED BY CONGRESS IS HAILED WITH DELIGHT BY POSTAL EMPLOYEES

The postal appropriations for the year commencing July 1, 1913, as passed by the United States congress on March 3, provides for a number of changes which are hailed with delight by those connected with the postal department in every part of the United States. The ruling consists of:

The abolishment of the $600 grade for clerks and carriers.

The establishment of $800 as the grand entrance salary.

That substitute carriers receive 40 cents per hour for service rendered while working for regular employees absent without pay.

That 75 per cent of the carriers and clerks in first-class offices be promoted from $1,100 to $1,200.

The new law is one of the most important to postal clerks and carriers which has been passed in some time.

The Relly eight-hour law which provides for shorter hours for employees, went into effect March 4 and is an important one to postal workers.

JUDGE SETS ASIDE DEED.

PONTIAC, Mich., March 8.—Judge Smith this morning set aside a deed to Birmingham property owned by E. Donald Roberts. In 1908, Roberts executed a deed of the property running to his wife and the deed was placed on record. At that time he went south because of ill-health and the deed was a precautionary measure.

Roberts got better, but in April, 1912, his wife died. The deed was still on record and to clear title the court procedure was necessary.

MEN FIGHT ON THE STREET, ARRESTED

Alleged to have pulled off their coats on North Burdick street, near Water street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and to have engaged in a fistie encounter, William Morgan and Nelson Gerow were lodged in the county jail, awaiting their appearance in municipal court this morning. The two are said to have engaged in a heated argument for some time, at the conclusion of which they decided to settle the matter by coming to blows. The strong arm of the law intervened before either was hurt. City Detectives Carney and Grotum hustling them away to the lock up.

RED EAGLES ENJOY BANQUET

Banquet Hall Filled With Members of Order Who Enjoy Program.

Announcement Made That They Will Purchase Summer Home And Have Nine.

As many as could be seated were entertained at the banquet of the Red Eagles last evening. After a delightful banquet the guests listened to music by the Red Eagles quartette, the Cornhill family on accordions, and toasts responded to by Milo Bennett, E. N. Dingley, B. E. Hays, J. H. Notly, Laurence Wiegner, William A. Bradey, C. A. Lawrence and Dr. H. B. Weinberg responded to toasts. Frank F. Ford acted as toastmaster.

The feature of the evening was the discussion of the new home which the Eagles are planning, a summer home at one of the lakes near this city. Several places are under consideration, and it is planned to fit up the new home with a bowling alley, pool, billiards and bathing facilities, and in connection to have boats, a launch and fishing apparatus. All the members are enthusiastic over the proposition and undoubtedly the Eagles will next summer be able to enjoy themselves by the lakeside at their own home.

A ball team will be organized by Daniel Mannix, and the Eagles greeted this announcement with cheers. It was announced that the expectations are that the Eagles will have the best nine in existence and that they will be able to teach the big leaguers a few tricks.

Good cheer, witty bantering and genuine good fellowship characterized the meeting of last evening. The Red Eagles believe in sociability plus and mean to enjoy life. Their entertainment of last evening convinces one that the Red Eagles are birds of a feather that cannot be matched every day.

COLDWATER HIGH BEATS CENTRALS

Central High basketball team went down in defeat before the fast players of the Coldwater hustlers at that city last night, in the last five minutes of play, by a score of 36 to 31. Before the final rush, the score stood 27 to 26 in favor of Coach Taylor's hopefuls. The cruel war then started, both teams displaying much mastery playing, but when the end came the Temperance town outfit had the game safely tucked away by a slim margin of five points.

At the end of the first half the score stood 17 to 11, in favor of the locals. Captain Taylor starred for Kalamazoo. He hung up a record of 11 fouls out of 18 attempts.

The game, from all accounts, was one of the fastest and most exciting played this season.

UNION CITY, Mich., March 8.—The general topic of local discussion these days is sanitary sewerage, and voters will be called upon at the annual city election next Monday to vote upon the proposition to bond the town for $10,000 for the purpose of constructing a portion of the $30,000 sanitary sewerage system recently approved by the city council.

Husband Prays Hatfield Might Live So He Can Get Revenge On Him

Charles Nightengale Bitter Against Son-in-law Who Shot Woman Then Sent Bullet Into Own Head.

No Sympathy in Gobleville for Youth Who Tried to Blot Out Two Lives—Intended to Kill Son.

"Had I been home when that devil of a Hatfield was here, they would never have had to take him to the hospital," said Charles Nightengale, husband of the woman who was shot and probably fatally injured by her son-in-law, J. B. Hatfield. Tuesday night.

The aged man, badly crippled as the result of an accident, gripped his cane as he spoke and a determined look came into his grey eyes that indicated the hate that was within his heart for the man whom he had befriended and who had shown his ingratitude by shooting down the woman the old man loved.

There is no sympathy in Gobleville for Hatfield. He is charged with being a shiftless, worthless fellow. The sympathy of the little community is with Mrs. Nightengale, who is making a desperate but unequal fight with death as she lays on a bed in the parlor of the house where the tragedy took place, paralyzed from her shoulders down. The husband sits at the bedside with his face in his hands and prays that Hatfield, who is now in the Bronson hospital, may live, so that he may be given a chance for revenge.

That Hatfield had murder in his heart when he called at the Nightengale home on Tuesday night is shown by a note which was found in his coat pocket after he had tried to kill himself, following the shooting of the mother-in-law. The note read:

"To the officers of Van Buren county: I have come to kill the one that caused the trouble and take my wife and baby along with me to shovel coal on her body."

Hatfield took his child-wife and two-year-old son, Lawrence, to the north woods last December. He secured employment as cook for his wife in one of the lumber camps. The wife stated yesterday that he refused to work while there and would take her wages from time to time to purchase clothing for himself. At last the wife, driven to desperation, wrote to her parents at Gobleville and told them her troubles. The mother, who has the reputation in Gobleville of being a hard working woman, earned the necessary money for car fare for the daughter and child by sewing and sent it to Mrs. Hatfield. The wife, who is little more than a child herself, arrived at Gobleville two weeks ago.

Visited His Wife.
Tuesday morning Hatfield arrived from the north and immediately called at the home of the wife, where he had a long conversation with her, during which he tearfully pleaded with her to return north with him. This she refused to do under any circumstance that he was not doing right in not properly supporting the ones dependent upon him. He is said to have admitted this and again promised to return north and make a man of himself.

Fires First Shot.
He started the home. When he reached the door he suddenly turned and exclaimed: "I wish you good luck." These words were followed by a flash and a report and the wife to return, he asked her if he might not have the little boy. He was told that the child would be much better off in the care of the mother.

"I guess you are right," he is reported to have said, and he then

WOMAN FEELS 10 YEARS YOUNGER

Since Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Louisville, Ky.—"I take great pleasure in writing to inform you of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was weak, nervous, and cared for nothing but sleep. Now I can go ahead with my work daily and feel ten years younger than before I started taking your medicine. I will advise any woman to consult with you before going to a doctor."—Mrs. INEZ WILKIE, 2229 Bank St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Sufferer Relieved.
Romney, Texas.—"I suffered terribly with a displacement and bladder trouble. I was in misery all the time and could not walk any distance. I thought I never could be cured, but my mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I did. I am cured of the displacement and the bladder trouble is relieved. I think the Compound is the finest medicine on earth for suffering women."—Mrs. VIOLA JASPER, Romney, Texas.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

kissed the child good-bye and announced that he was going back north to make a man of himself.

Bought Revolver.
From the events which were closely crowded into the next 12 hours, it appears that Hatfield did not return north, but instead came to Kalamazoo, where he purchased a .38 Colt revolver. He returned to Gobleville on the afternoon train and succeeded in getting into that village without anyone seeing him.

That night he again called at the Nightengale home and the wife, who was afraid that there would be trouble, refused to go to the door to admit him to the house. The mother-in-law finally admitted the man to the home. He stated that he had called to say good-bye to the little boy before returning north. Mrs. Nightengale was rocking the child to sleep in her arms at the time.

She explained the situation to the son-in-law and stated that he and the wife and baby could never be happy under the circumstances. She told him that she had passed within two inches of the head of the child, passed through the neck of the woman and embedded itself in the wall.

Without stopping to find out what he had accomplished, he placed the barrel of the smoking revolver against his own head and saying "Here goes," pulled the trigger of the weapon. He fell in a heap on the floor. The brother of the wife ran to the neighbors for help.

Would Spare Child.
The mother-in-law did not lose consciousness. When the neighbors came she pointed to the body of the son-in-law on the floor and tearfully pointed to the child in her lap, evidently meaning to convey the idea that the child must not know of the father's crime.

Afterwards, when Hatfield had temporarily regained consciousness at the office of Dr. C. L. Bennett, at Gobleville, he murmured, "I did a poor job of it, Doc." Later he was brought to the hospital in this city. Little hope is entertained for the recovery of Mrs. Nightengale. There were many callers at the home yesterday afternoon, friends of the woman whose life hangs by a thread, who have known her for years. They state that time and time again she has befriended Hatfield in the past and had always been too proud to admit that the daughter and her husband were not living happily. The people of Gobleville are very bitter against Hatfield.

LIFE GUARDS.
The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry from part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, give vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and impart a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

KAZOO MAN'S SPEECH

the inhabitants of Gobleville yesterday morning. One of the first men who arrived on the streets in the morning saw the sign "bank closed" in the window of the Sackett institution and the report spread like wild fire. Within a comparatively short time hundreds of depositors were standing in little groups around the bank corner discussing their "losses."

Had Confidence
"Don't be hasty, boys," said one of the men who would suffer the greatest financial loss, should the bank close its doors forever. I think Stan has been straight and ought to give him a chance to explain. If he hasn't been honest then I believe in putting button holes in his hide but I think he has been square. Anyway let's wait and see."

All Confident
On all sides could be heard expressions of confidence in Sackett. The Gobleville bank was a one man institution. It was organized more than 20 years ago and 10 years ago Stan Sackett who had started in the institution as an errand boy took over the management of the bank. Sackett started in life as a poor boy and while he is now acknowledged to be the big man of the town, it is said in his favor that he never forgot his friends. His success in life has not made him cheery, it is claimed. Many cases yesterday were recalled where Sackett had befriended people of that village.

Confidence Restored
When he returned to Gobleville in the afternoon with his attorney there was great rejoicing among the friends of the man who for the time being had caused the people of his home town to lose confidence in him. The fearless manner of the man quickly restored the confidence that wavered and after the committee of depositors had received information as to the true status of affairs there was not another word of unfavorable comment to be heard from any.

"Just give Stan a chance to catch up with himself and everything will turn out all right" was the comment of a depositor which seemed to meet with the hearty approval of the others.

GLASGOW, Mich., March 8.—Fifty telephone and telegraph lines leading into and out of Glasgow were cut today, and "votes for women" placards left conspicuously displayed where the work was done, led the police to believe that the suffragettes were responsible.

SEEK CAUSE OF DYNAMITE

view of protecting the interests of the families of the killed and injured Welshmen and to make a report to the British admiralty.

The coroner of Anne Arundel county, will at once impanel a jury and this probably will complete the number of inquiries to attempt the fixing of blame for the disaster.

The general theory which seems to be borne out by statements of eyewitnesses to the tragedy, is that the coal in the vessel's bunkers was set afire by spontaneous combustion and the flames were communicated to the dynamite.

The explosion was so terrific that it has seriously crippled the coast defense of the harbor in many instances and concrete foundations of the heavy guns in forts Howard, Armistead and Carroll were cracked while several guns themselves, were damaged by falling pieces of steel from the wrecked steamer.

Many Killed

Early reports of the extent of the loss of life aboard the destroyed steamer and the other vessels lying in her immediate vicinity materially differed and even yet no accurate list of fatalities has been compiled. It is accepted, however, that the list will total between 40 and 50 dead and almost as many more dangerously or seriously injured. Several died at hospitals here last night and it is believed that others cannot survive the day.

It is regarded almost certain that all the bodies have not yet been recovered from the waters of the harbor, while there, it is believed, were torn to shreds by the force of the heavy explosion. Many bodies are thought to have been taken to the bottom with the shattered hull of the vessel and may never be recovered.

Up to a late hour last night, the number of known had reached 26, of which 24 had been identified. In all the Catholic churches tomorrow prayers will be offered for the repose of the souls of those killed in the disaster and for the recovery of the injured.

EXAMINATION HELD
A large number of applicants for civil service examinations gathered at the Y. M. C. A. building at nine o'clock this morning where an examination was in progress. The test is for the purpose of filling vacancies in the ranks of the rural carriers.

SENT TO HOSPITAL
The little boy ill with pneumonia whose case was recently reported in this paper, will be sent to a hospital today. The case was a pitiful one and Adjutant White of the Salvation Army reports generous responses to the appeal made.

UNVACCINATED EXCLUDED.
All children who have not been vaccinated will be excluded for another week from the Burdick street school. It had been planned to allow them to return, but after consideration it was thought better to wait a week longer.

MURDERER'S SON HERE.
Reginald Weber, the youngest son of William Weber, accused of murdering his wife in Grand Rapids, was brought to this city last night by Mrs. Del Curtis, the boy's grandmother. The older son was taken to Grand Haven.

NEW RECRUITS.
Seven new recruits were mustered in by Company M. last evening. This leaves only two or three vacancies. Measurements are to be made for new coats and uniforms of the usual color and the order sent to the quartermaster general. The lesson last evening consisted of advance, rear guard and scout duty.

SOCIAL CENTER MEETS.
The Social Center of the Comstock school gave an interesting program last evening. The program of the evening consisted of vocal and instrumental music, story telling, and an address by Miss Nellie McConnell of the Western State Normal school, the subject being "Children's Literature."

TO HOLD BANQUET.
Many from Kalamazoo will go to Galesburg, Tuesday night, to attend the annual banquet of the Masonic lodge of that place. An excellent program has been arranged, the affair to take place in the Masonic temple. A program of musical selections and addresses will be given.

CHARGE CHANGED.
Judd W. Pratt, aged 42, a laborer of this city, was arrested today by Patrolman Ralph on a charge of larceny, it having been said that he stole a grain sack from a local grain elevator. As the man is said to have been intoxicated, the charge against him was changed to that of drunkenness.

RECITES MARK.
Rev. J. Wood Miller will give a reading of the book of Mark at the Stockbridge Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening. Rev. Miller knows the book by heart and in his exposition does not confine himself to the text, but interpolates with a number of enlightening remarks.

MAY BE LEFT VACANT
It is understood that the council may not fill the vacancy caused by the death of Street Commissioner Allen until the next administration assumes control of city affairs. While many of the aldermen are anxious to select William Verberg for the place, Mr. Verberg says he is not a candidate and that he believes it advisable to leave the place vacant until the new city administration comes in. Former Street Commissioner Henry Boekeloo has volunteered to take care of the work of the department until the first day of May, providing that the city will pay to Mrs. Allen the salary. He says he would carry on the work and ask nothing for his services. Mr. Boekeloo made the city an excellent street commissioner.

MASONIC TEMPLE.
Work on the Masonic temple is progressing as rapidly as the weather will allow. Excavations have been made in part to a depth of ten feet and speuter walls for the basement have been completed. The rapidly with which the work will advance in the next few weeks will depend on the weather.

MEETING IS CALLED.
President H. L. Jacobson, of the Comstock school board, has called a meeting of the taxpayers in that district to be held Monday night in the school house. The meeting, says Mr. Jacobson, is to consider matters pertaining to the district and the school. He says that all should attend the meeting.

ENLARGE THEIR OFFICES.
Attorney Clyde W. Ketcham and Earl E. Denison, real estate, have found it necessary to enlarge their space in the Kalamazoo National bank building, and have added the rooms in suite 606 to the offices formerly occupied, and all have been newly decorated and equipped with new furniture. Mr. C. L. VanVranken will have his office with Mr. Denison.

PYTHIAN DANCE.
The third of the series of dances will be given by the Knights of Pythias in their hall Monday evening. Pythias' orchestra will again furnish the music, introducing new pieces and novelties. Souvenirs will be presented to the women present. The floor is being refinished and polished for the event. All except Knights of Pythias will be admitted by invitation only.

PUTTING UP WALLS.
Construction of the new building which will house the motion picture theater at Washington avenue and Portage streets is being rushed rapidly along. The walls are being put up and it is expected that it will not be many days before the building will be entirely enclosed. It is probable that the theater will be ready to open within a month or six weeks.

C. E. UNION SERVICE.
All the Christian Endeavor societies of the city will unite Sunday evening in a service at the Second Reformed church. The service will take place at 5:45 o'clock. Walter D. Howell, state field secretary, will address the meeting. Music will be furnished by the orchestra of the Second Reformed church and John Van Brook will lead the singing.

DEBATE GENERALS.
"Who is the Greater General, Washington, or Napoleon?" This question will be settled the evening of March the 14th by the U. S. Grand club of the Y. M. C. A. Two divisions, under the leadership of Fred Smith and Neal Pasman are leading in the debates. The number on each side is not limited to three, but five or six take part, each speaking for about one minute.

C. E. WORKER HERE.
W. Howell, international secretary of the Christian Endeavor, Boston, will be in this city today and Sunday in the interests of the Christian Endeavor work of this city. This evening, he will speak at the Y. W. C. A. and Sunday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock he will deliver an address on Christian Endeavor work at the Second Reformed church. Mr. Howell is making a tour of the country in the interests of the international convention, in July at Los Angeles, Calif.

RESCUE MISSION SERVICES.
Song and praise service will be held at the City Rescue Mission, on north Burdick street this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Sunday the popular Bible class will be held in the afternoon at four o'clock. This service is gaining in popularity and the attendance is large. All are invited to this and to the evening service at 7:30. J. A. Hoffman will have charge of the services and will take the subject, "Prepare for Eternity."

IMPROVEMENTS AT HOSPITAL.
Rev. Fr. Phelan gave a three days retreat last week to the Sisters and patients of the Borgess hospital. The sermons were very instructive and impressive and were greatly appreciated by all who heard them. Fr. Kelley, Mendon, Mr. E. Galpin, Buffalo, N. Y., Mr. Gibbons, New York, N. Y., called on friends during the week. Steel ceilings are being placed in the office and private rooms on the first floor and when completed will present a very neat appearance.

NEW REAL ESTATE COMPANY.
Christian Ver Cies, Henry R. Bahlman, and Arle Roskam of this city have formed a real estate firm which will commence operations about March 15, with offices in the Hanselman building. The three men have been residents of this city for many years and should meet with success in their new venture as they have a wide acquaintance in Kalamazoo. Mr. Bahlman has been in the Gilmore shoe department for the past eight years and retires from the work with a splendid reputation. Mr. Ver Cies has been in the dry goods business for a number of years in this city. The new firm has been accepted as members of the National Real Estate Dealers Exchange, and two automobiles will be used in connection with the business.

PICTURES END TONIGHT
Tonight will be the last of the African Hunt pictures, and they will close a most successful week's business. Every afternoon and evening the Fuller theater has been crowded with people interested in the especially realistic pictures which have been given. Seldom have Kalamazoo people had the opportunity of enjoying such excellent pictures as the Rainey collection and it is probable that the theater will be crowded this evening on the occasion of their last presentation.

RETURNS FROM VIRGINIA.
Oscar Stratton, of West Vine street, has returned to this city following a month's visit in Richmond, Va., where he has been visiting his sister, Mrs. F. D. Miller. While in Virginia Mr. Stratton visited many historical places in and around Richmond and reports that fine weather prevailed during the entire stay. Further, he states that at one time during his visit in Richmond, the mercury climbed above the 70-degree mark. He returned to Kalamazoo just in time to meet the big blizzard and instantly remarked that Virginia was a great state.

MOOSE GIVE DANCE
The Moose lodge will give the second of their series of dancing parties Monday evening in the Auditorium. Salomon's orchestra of seven pieces will furnish the music for the occasion and special features will be presented by the musicians during the evening. Henry Miller, chairman of the dance committee has arranged an excellent program for the dance and E. L. Bechtel, chairman of the refreshment committee made arrangements to serve punch and light refreshments during the evening.

BULLETIN ENLARGED.
The Bulletin published every two weeks by the Kalamazoo Academy of Medicine has been enlarged to six pages. The many advertisements and increased reading matter make necessary the enlargement. Each number contains the program for the next session, a condensed summary of the proceedings of the last meeting and medical notes. Copies are sent to all the members and serve as invitations.

Many Successes

Come from wisdom acquired through a multiplicity of failures. Defeat is often the forerunner of success, and it is a misfortune only when it engenders fear and paralyzes energy.

When the failure to win acts as an incentive to increased activity and additional exertion it is a blessing, and makes for a greater success than could otherwise have been obtained.

If your ventures have not been successful, don't sit in idleness and lament your ill luck, but reflect on the cause of your undoing, strengthen your weak points and start something else.

Find your opportunity in Telegraph-Press Want Ads. These busy little ads make a pathway to the things you want, and they bridge the gulf between poverty and prosperity.

Buyer and seller, renter and owner, borrower and lender, manufacturer and consumer, employer and employee all get quick and certain results from Telegraph-Press Want Ads.
